BODIES TAKEN TO JACKSON

Rescue Workers Rushed to Stricken
Village—Homes and Buildings
Are Wrecked

(By United Press)

Jackson, Tenn., March 12—Twenty persons were killed and nearly two score injured when a wind and hail storm struck Binson during the night.

Bodies of the dead were brought here today by rescue workers who rushed to the stricken village when word of the disaster was broadcasted.

Binson was quietly asleep when the storm broke, wrecking houses and buildings. Many of the dead were killed while they slept. Others were tossed about in the wreckage of their home, as the storm swirled about the little town.

Rain and light hail followed the high wind, adding to the misery of the victims. The casualties lay scattered about, while the townspeople who escaped with only slight injuries tried frantically in the darkness to provide for them.

Messengers were rushed to the surrounding towns to send nurses, physicians, provisions and other necessities. Hours after the cyclone had passed, leaving death and destruction in its path, half clad townspeople tried to repair their damaged homes.

Property Damage In Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—Many persons were hurt and heavy property damage was done in a gale that swept across Indiana last night and today.

Wire communications were disrupted. Traction lines were tied up with broken trolley wires, windows broken, roofs lifted, chimneys torn down. In some instances pedestrians were picked up by the gale, carried a short distance and slammed down again. Several sustained broken legs and were bruised and hurt otherwise.

A legendary sign advising people to drink root beer, swung down from its moorings over a door of a former saloon and struck a pedestrian. His leg was broken.

Storm in Lake Regions

Chicago, March 12—A gale which reached 80 miles an hour, accompanied by rain, sleet and snow, swept up the Mississippi Valley and across the Great Lakes region during the night causing heavy damage.

Many cities were isolated. Hundreds of miles of wires were blown down. Railroad traffic was demoralized.

Twenty were injured in Chicago alone in accidents due to the storm.

A large part of the city was in darkness when main lines supplying electric current were snapped by the wind.

Thousands of people spending Sunday evening at downtown theatres and cafes, were caught by the storm and unable to reach their homes. Street car and elevated line traffic was tied up by a heavy snow fall. Autos were stalled along all drives, unable to buck the high wind and snow drifts.

With hotels crowded, late revelers spent the remainder of the night in restaurants; lobbies or sitting in stalled cars. The sudden fall of wet snow and rain, clogged drains, flooding cellars.

The snow continued today, although forecasts were for fair and colder weather tonight.

YOUNG WOMAN DIES FROM DRINKING LYE

Miss Susie Honey, Age 29, Who Attempted Suicide One Week Ago
Expires In Orange Township

INQUEST HELD BY CORONER

The funeral services for Miss Susie Honey, age 29 years who expired at the home of her mother, Mrs. James Honey, in Orange township, Friday evening at six o'clock were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Moscow Christian church and burial took place in the Moscow cemetery.

A week ago Saturday afternoon Miss Honey attempted suicide by drinking concentrated lye, with suicidal intent. It was thought at the time that she would recover, as physicians were of the opinion that none of the lye reached her stomach. Her mouth was horribly burned and it developed later that some of the lye had reached her stomach, which resulted in her death. It was said that Miss Honey had no trouble and no cause could be ascribed for her taking the lye.

The survivors are her mother, two sisters, Mrs. Nettie Campbell, and Miss Kate Honey; three brothers, James and Ted of Moscow, and Charley of St. Paul. Miss Honey was a member of the Big Flatrock Christian church.

Coroner John M. Lee held an inquest over the body Sunday morning.

HEAVY DAMAGE IS DONE BY THE WIND

Trees Blow Down, Electric And Telephone Wires Are Damaged And Fires Are Threatened

CHIMNEYS RAZED BY WIND

Large Sign In Front Of W. E. Bowen
Garage Blown Through Window
—Tree Strikes House

Considerable damage was done throughout the city during the night and today by wind which is estimated to have reached a 40 or 45 mile velocity, with property being endangered in many ways as the result of the sweeping gale.

Telephone and electric wires were blown down in many places, disabling the service in some sections of the city. In one place, at the residence of Fred Hughes, 720 West Ninth street, near the Reynolds Manufacturing plant, a fire was narrowly averted.

At this place the wind toppled a tall tree over on the house at 12:30 this morning, during the downpour of rain, taking electric wires with it, and caused flames and sparks to shoot up around the house.

The fire department was called and electric wires were cut, preventing any loss from fire. The department made the run through the rain, and a transformer burnt out causing the city to be in darkness at the time of the run.

A large sign in front of the W. E. Bowen garage in Main street, was blown down this morning and crashed through a large plate glass window and broke the window glass in the doorway, causing considerable damage.

A window pane, located in the lodge rooms at the P. O. S. of A. hall, on the third floor of the building over the Greeks candy store, also was blown out this morning and fell to the sidewalk, barely missing pedestrians.

A tree located in the lot at the rear of the Primitive Baptist church Sixth and Morgan street, was blown down and crashed along the edge of the dwelling owned by Mrs. Julia Williams, 213 West Sixth street, doing damage to the house.

Shingle roofs all over the city suffered from the wind, and in many places shingles were ripped off leaving only the rafters showing. The tin roof on the Social Club rooms, Morgan and Second streets, was torn loose in many places and rolled up

TO TALK AT PLEASANT RIDGE

S. E. Polovina Tells Dramatic Story
Of His Life

S. E. Polovina a native of Austria, who is widely known as "Methodist Sam," told the story of his life to an interested congregation at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church Sunday night. He will speak Tuesday evening at the Pleasant Ridge M. E. church southwest of Rushville, as part of a plan by Dr. J. M. Walker of this city, district superintendent, to have him speak in the pulpit of every church in the Connersville district.

Mr. Polovina left his native land before the war and served in the ranks of the United States army as a soldier for nineteen months. His story is a very dramatic one that holds the audience spellbound during its recital.

REFUSES TO DIVIDE CAUSES OF ACTION

Special Judge John W. Craig Rules
on Petition in Case of Kelley vs
Bebout Et Al

APPRAISERS MAKE REPORT

No Ruling on Petition of Fairview
Burying Ground Association for
Price on Site

Judge John Craig of Greensburg, special judge in several court cases here, was in Rushville this morning, and occupied the bench on a court matter, it being the case of John Kelley, Jr., against Russell Bebout, et al., in which some of the defendants filed a motion to separate the causes of action, and which was overruled by the special judge.

The Decatur county judge also was previously selected to try the case of the State against Mary Ellen Hughes, which was to have been started this morning, but which was continued until April 5.

The case which held his attention this morning is a complaint to set aside a deed, and he was appointed special judge last week. The defendants, Russell, Pearl, John L. and Cecil Bebout filed the motion this morning to make the cause of action in separate paragraphs, and evidence was heard on this petition, and overruled. No date has been set yet for the trial of the case at issue.

The three appraisers appointed one day last week by Judge Sparks, to appraise land that is desired to be purchased by the Fairview Burying Ground association, have reported their appraisal of the land to Judge Sparks, but no record has been made yet of the court's ruling.

In the case of Ray Owens against Owen L. Carr, in which the plaintiff recently filed a motion for a new trial, after judgment had been rendered against him at a former trial, the plaintiff has dismissed his motion for a new trial, and the judgment will stand.

The jury which has not served on a case in this term of court, may not be used again this week, as they had originally been called for today, but were told not to come, and will not be asked to come until notified by the sheriff.

The grand jury also has not been called into session yet this term, although it is the custom to convene the investigators every other term of court, and the last session was in the September term.

CENTER TOWNSHIP FARMER SUCCUMBS

James Hall, Age Eighty-Five Years,
Dies Sunday at his Home Northeast of Mays

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY 1:30 P. M

James Hall, a prominently known farmer of Center township, expired Sunday morning about 11:30 o'clock at his home a mile and a quarter northeast of Mays, death resulting from illness arising with advanced age, as the deceased was 85 years old.

He is survived by the widow and two children, a son, Lee Hall and a daughter Mrs. Ha Shields, both residents of this county.

The deceased had spent most of his life in this county, and was extensively known in northern Rush county. In recent years he had retired from the active duties of the farm, although he remained on the home place until his death.

The funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Raleigh church, in charge of the Rev. L. E. Brown of this city, and burial will be made in the cemetery at Raleigh.

SEN. WATSON GIVES CONGRESS CREDIT

Says Prosperity Of Country Is Due
To Wise And Sane Legislation
Of Past Two Years

INDUSTRY BREAKS RECORD

Unprecedented Volume And General
Optimism Is Based Solely On
Conditions Within Borders

Senator James E. Watson of this city has contributed an article for newspaper publication, in which he gives the congress which just adjourned credit for the unprecedented condition of business in the United States. Senator Watson cites the testimony of the newspaper financial pages and then gives credit where credit is due. He writes as follows:

In commenting upon the steady and consistent improvement of domestic finance and business in the face of conditions in Europe, the financial column of the New York Times a few days ago said:

"The further advance in stocks is quite unmistakably a reflection not of European conditions, but of the financial and industrial situation at home. Whether the market could have moved as it did if the financial mind had taken seriously the predictions of disaster in continental Europe is another question; but the actual fact is that the investment market has to all intents forgotten Europe. It has its eyes on the weather signs of business conditions in this country and moves in response to what it sees. These conditions are somewhat remarkable."

In commenting upon the same phenomenon a noted author and writer on economic subjects says:

"The explanation, as repeatedly pointed out, is that trade conditions in America are so sound and promising that they have outweighed in the minds of security holders every other consideration."

Undoubtedly conditions in America are sound and promising. Never in the history of American industry has there been such production. Basic industries are running capacity or nearly 50 to 100 per cent greater than in pre-war times. This is because of the fact that during the war practically every basic industry increased its capacity at least 50 per cent. Some doubled their capacity.

The United States Steel Corporation is operating 90 per cent of its capacity, which capacity is greatly increased since 1914. Despite this fact, its unfilled orders today are approximately 7,000,000 tons, the largest on record since the war.

Pig iron production for the month of January was within a few thousands of tons of its highest record of

MRS. JANE LEISURE IS DEAD

Expires at Home of Her Son in
Jackson Township This Morning

Mrs. Jane Leisure, aged 82 years, expired this morning at three o'clock at the home of her son, Jesse A. Leisure in Jackson township. The deceased had been ill for several weeks suffering with leakage of the heart.

Mrs. Leisure had lived in that vicinity practically all her life and was well known in this city as well as in the vicinity in which she lived. The survivors are the son at whose home she died, and a daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Dalrymple, and a number of grandchildren. She is the widow of the late John Leisure.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Church of Christ in Jackson township and burial will take place in the church cemetery.

GERMANY READY TO END DEADLOCK

Prepare To Resume Reparations
Payments As Assassination Is
Added To Occupation Terrors

FRENCH OFFICIAL KILLED

France Indignantly Sets Severe Re-
prisal Measures And Vengeance
Is Promised For Act

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, March 12.—Germany was ready to end the Ruhr deadlock and resume reparations payments today, as assassination was added to the terrors of the Ruhr occupation.

Following the murder of Lieutenant Coltin and M. Jolly, French officials, near Buer Saturday night, France indignantly set severe reprisal measures upon the district and both Premier Poincare and War Minister Maginot promised vengeance.

Allied Leader Cheered

Brussels, March 12.—Cheering crowds in Brussel streets greeted Premier Poincare of France and Minister of Public Works Lefranc as they drove to the foreign office today for the Franco-Brussels conference on the Ruhr.

The conference is regarded as the most important since the joint occupation of the Ruhr valley by France and Belgium troops began.

Foreign Minister Maginot, General Degoutte and Monsieur Serbette, French ambassador were among those attending.

French Soldier Killed

Dortmund, March 12.—A French soldier was killed and five others injured in a Sunday evening street battle here. A German police commissioner and three German civilians were wounded.

Buer, the Ruhr town near which Lieutenant Coltin and M. Jolly, French officials, were murdered Saturday night, was held in a sharpened state of siege today by the invaders. The town had been given until 11:30 last night to discover and hand over the assassins, believed to have been former members of the Green Police, because of the excellent marksmanship evidenced by the wounds in the victim's backs.

Failing to find the murders Buer suffered today a further tightening of the military grip. The burgomaster, assistant burgomaster and other officials were under arrest and a provisional fine of 100,000 marks was levied.

IRISH REBELS ARE JAILED

Rounded Up By Free State From
Every Corner Of British Isles

Dublin, March 12.—Three warships today brought to Dublin 150 rebel prisoners of the Free State, captured in a great roundup that extended to every corner of the British Isles.

The docks were heavily guarded by national troops as the insurgents were landed and marched with tanks and armored cars to Mount Joy prison.

DOG TAX FUND IS DISTRIBUTED

Sum of $3,800.05 Is Paid Out to
Townships and Rushville School
City on Per Capita Basis

STATE GETS FIVE PERCENT

Some Townships Profit and Others
Lose in Transaction—74 Cents
For Each Person of School Age

The sum of $3,800.05 which was received from the collection of dog taxes last year has been distributed by the county auditor among the townships and the Rushville city school corporation on a per capita basis of seventy-six cents for each person of school age. The dog tax money goes to the support of the schools.

The first five percent, amounting to $190.00, goes to the state, and the remainder to the schools of the county. Each township trustee retains $100 as a surplus to meet claims for live stock killed by dogs during the year and the balance is turned over to the auditor for distribution on the per capita basis.

The per capita is arrived at by dividing the amount to be distributed by the number of persons of school age in the county. The amount paid in and received in the distribution by each township and Rushville school corporation is as follows:

Ripley township paid in $275.50 and with 484 persons of school age, receives $369.88.

Posey township paid in $147 and having 327 pupils, gets back $249.89

Walker township paid in $310 and with 302 persons of school age, receives back $230.78.

Orange township paid to the auditor $339 and on a basis of 261 persons of school age, got $199.45 in the distribution.

Anderson township turned over $374.50 and on the basis of 357 persons of school age, was paid $272.81.

Rushville township paid in $481.50 and with 324 persons of school age outside the city, received $274.60 in the distribution.

Jackson township paid in $57 and got back $123.04 on the basis of 161 persons of school age.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED BY THE PEOPLES BANK

Ralph Payne Becomes President And
Glen E. Foster Cashier. Directors
Announce Today

TO CONTINUE SAME POLICY

A reorganization of the personnel of the Peoples National bank officers has been completed, it was announced today in a statement issued by the directors of the bank. Ralph Payne becoming president as successor to Earl H. Payne, who has retired. Ralph Payne was formerly cashier of the bank.

Earl Payne also retired as chairman of the board of directors of the Peoples Loan and Trust company, but that position will not be filled for the present, it is announced.

Charles A. Mauzy and Miles S. Cox, the latter being secretary of the trust company, were elected vice-presidents and Glen E. Foster, who has been assistant cashier, was elevated to the position of cashier. Guy Mulbarger, formerly teller, was selected as assistant cashier, and Wallace W. Payne, who was a book keeper, was made teller. Miss Zora Carney was continued as book keeper and Henry P. McGuire as auditor.

"The bank will continue its present policy and at all times be prepared to meet the needs of its customers," the statement of the directors said. "The officers realize that a bank is a public institution and really belongs to its depositors. In this connection we wish to thank the public for its generous support in the past and assure you that the same courtesy and care in handling your business will be extended to all in the future."

THE HOME GARDEN

WHEN, WHY AND HOW TO SOW FLOWERS

There are two classes of flowers that ought to be planted in the house or in the frames ahead of the season. These are varieties giving their season of bloom late in the season and those which germinate very slowly. Asters, for instance, which come up in two weeks, will germinate quickly enough in the open ground, but their season is the late summer and a month is gained by early planting. The schedule for aster planting should be regulated so that they will bloom either before or after August in neighborhoods where the aster beetle is a pest.

There is usually only one flight of the marauders, and they come in August. As they eat only the blossoms and buds, the asters either have bloomed in July or are late enough not to flower in September, and are reasonably safe from these devouring pests.

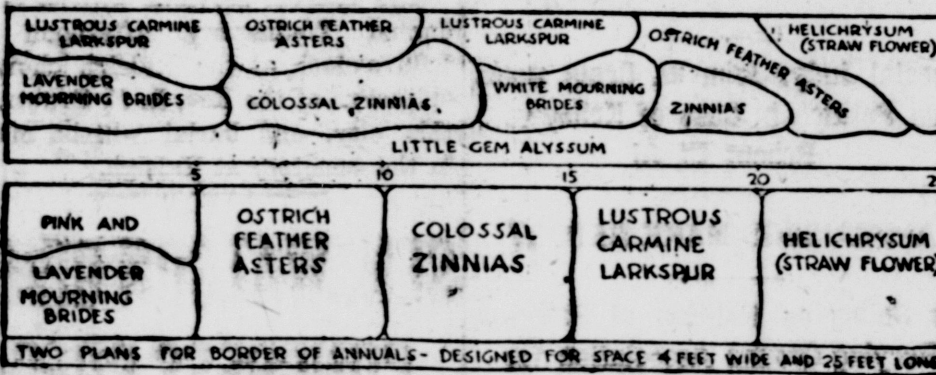

The old form of cosmos rarely gets into full bloom unless given as early a start as possible. The Lady Lennox forms are particularly fine, but not adapted for gardens in the northern half of the United States unless they can be given a month's early start, and even then their season will be brief. The early flowering strains now offered by seedsmen should be planted. They will give flowers from seed planted in the open in August and, if planted in the house or frame can be had in bloom from July until first frost, making very stately and decorative bushes.

Some annuals may be sown outdoors at any time the soil can be worked, regardless of temperature. Scatter poppy seed on the bed where it is to bloom at any time you receive the seed. It will come up early and will stand considerable frost. Annual larkspur seed may be sown in the fall, and so hardy are these tiny plants that they stand all winter unaffected by freezing, ice or snow, and start growth with the first warm weather.

Both poppies and larkspurs are very difficult to transplant, so there is little to be gained by sowing them in the house. All of the poppy family are notoriously difficult to transplant, this including escholtzia and hennemannia. The latter had best be planted in paper pots a few seeds to a pot, pulling out all but one after they germinate. The pots can be peeled off when it is time to transplant, without disturbance of the roots.

Study carefully the directions on the seed packets in determining what seeds to start indoors and which outdoors. The directions usually will tell you whether to plant in the open or indoors.

Indiana Crop Report

(U. S. Department of Agriculture, Co-operating With Indiana Legislative Reference Bureau)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—The corn, oats and barley reserves on Indiana farms March 1 are considerably lower than last year and wheat reserves are slightly larger, but none of them are as large as the usual supply at this time of the year, according to the monthly report of the cooperative crop reporting service for Indiana, issued today. Hay reserves are reported for the first time this year and land values and cash rents paid by tenants are also shown. The report follows:

Reserves of corn on Indiana farms March 1 were 40 percent of the 1922 crop and amounted to 70,522,000 bushels, compared with 76,482,000 bushels in 1922 and 99,846,000 bushels in 1921. The low reserves at this time are due largely to the heavy feeding operations that have been going on for the past few months. The quantity that has been shipped out of the county where grown is reported at 22 percent of it being considered merchantable as last year, although considerably more trading than usual took place among farmers and the prices secured under this method was somewhat better than the elevator prices. The quality of the crop is somewhat above the average, 91 percent of it being considered merchantable. Altogether last year's crop was one of the best ever harvested in the state.

Wheat reserves on Indiana farms March 1 were 16 percent of last year's crop and amount to 4,768,000 bushels, compared with 4,113,000 bushels last year. The quality of the crop was about average but the quantity was somewhat below the usual carry-over. The 1921 reserves amounted to 5,741,000 bushels. The quantity that has been or will be shipped out of the county where grown amounts to 18,475,000 bushels or 62 percent of the total crop.

The growing crop in Indiana is not looking as good as it should at this time of the year. Much damage has been done by freezing and thawing weather. Present indications point to a low condition figure for the entire country, with western Kansas and the southwest in very poor condition.

The reserves of oats on Indiana farms March 1 were 26 percent of last year's production and amounted to only 7,480,000 bushels, compared with 17,896,000 bushels last year and 33,825,000 bushels in 1921. This is one of the smallest carry-overs ever recorded in the state and is due to the late planting last spring and the unfavorable weather conditions at harvesting time which resulted in the smallest crop ever produced in the state. The amount shipped or to be shipped out of the county where grown, amounts to 33 percent of the total production.

The reserves of barley on Indiana farms March 1 were 12 percent of last year's production and amount to $6,000 bushels, compared with 284,000 bushels for 1922 and 634,000 bushels for 1921. The crop produced last year was the smallest in several years and of poor quality. The amount shipped or to be shipped out of the county where grown is 10 percent of the total production, which is considerably smaller than usual. A great portion of the barley produced in Indiana is used on the farm where grown and is confined principally to a few counties in the northeastern part of the state.

The reserves of all hay on Indiana farms March 1 were 35 percent of the total production and amounted to 1,316,000 tons and probably is somewhat larger than usual because of the extremely large crop last year. This is the first year an estimate of hay reserves has been made.

Land values in Indiana compared with last year show a decline of approximately $3.00 per acre for improved land and $2.00 per acre for land without improvements. Plow lands also decreased slightly in acre value with good plow lands showing a decline of $3.00 per acre and poor plow lands a decline of $2.00 per acre, with the average of all plow lands at $1.00 per acre.

The average value per acre of Indiana farms renting for cash in 1922 was $102.00 and the rental $6.00 per acre. The average value of plow lands was $107.00 per acre and the rental $7.00 per acre. Pasture lands were valued at $70.00 per acre and the rental $4 per acre.

SIX STATES TANLAC PROVED A BLESSING

Peoria Man Declares It Ended His Stomach Trouble and Restored Wife to Health

"Tanlac has been a blessing in our home, and my wife and I will always praise it. I only regret we did not get it sooner, for it would have saved a world of suffering, and money too," declared Benjamin F. Six, 1610 7th St., Peoria, Ill., the other day.

"Four years of stomach trouble had me where I almost lost hope of getting well. My stomach was always so upset my food soured and caused gas and pains that nearly doubled me up. My kidneys bothered me too. I had fearful backaches and headaches, and it was all I could do to drag myself home from work.

"Five bottles of Tanlac drove out all my old troubles and I eat better, sleep better and work better. My wife has taken as much as I have, for her ease was as bad or worse, and she too thinks there is nothing like the Tanlac treatment."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

Smoke stacks swung in the air in many places, and several instances were reported where bricks from chimneys gave way. At the home of Mrs. Anna Churchill, 1105 North Morgan street, the chimney made of brick was wrecked almost even with the roof, but only a small amount of fire was made in the stove and no other serious damage resulted.

Window panes in many houses were reported shattered by the wind storm of last night. One of the glass doors on the storm front of the court house was smashed by the wind.

Pedestal lights in the business district were seriously damaged, when in many cases the large bowls were blown down and broken. In several places electric poles were waving with the wind, and the city men established props to prevent any serious damage.

In the list of wire trouble, the city employees also were attempting to fix damage done to the fire alarm system which was put out of working order during the storm.

People driving in automobiles during the storm Sunday night encountered great difficulties on the road. The blinding rain resulted in several cars going into the ditch, but no serious damage or injury to any of the occupants were reported.

DOG TAX FUND IS DISTRIBUTED

Center township paid to the auditor $277.30 and with 235 persons of school age received back only $179.59.

Washington township paid in $193 and got back $197.16, on the basis of 258 children of school age.

Union township lost in the transaction, paying $569.25 and with 306 persons of school age, was paid $233.84 in the distribution.

Noble township did not profit anything in the distribution, paid in $300 and receiving back $175, with 229 persons of school age.

Richland township paid in $377 and with 202 persons of school age, received $154.37.

Rushville school city profited most of all because of the large number of persons of school age in the city—1278, which entitled the school city to $976.64. Rushville city is not credited with paying any because dog taxes collected in the city were credited to Rushville township.

The sum distributed was swelled in the sum of $99.00 from Anderson township which was due from 1921 and was not paid to the auditor in time for last year's distribution.

DR. S. A. SMITH TO ACT AS CHAIRMAN

Richmond Man To Lead Campaign For Riley Hospital For Children In Sixth District

FAYETTE ONLY COUNTY ACTIVE

Organization Meetings Preparatory To Campaign Will Be Held In Other Counties Soon

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—Dr. Samuel E. Smith of Richmond will serve as chairman of the sixth district for the campaign for the James Whitecomb Riley Hospital for Children, now under construction here as a memorial to the Hoosier poet and for the care and treatment of Indiana sick and crippled poor children, it was announced at the state campaign headquarters here today.

Dr. Smith is a member of the state executive committee of the hospital and has been very active in behalf of the movement. Fayette county is the only county in the sixth district where an active campaign in behalf of the hospital has already been held. Other counties included in the district, for which county chairmen will be named are Wayne, Henry, Hancock, Shelby, Rush, Union and Franklin. Organization meetings, preparatory to the active campaigns, will be held in the various counties in the near future.

The Riley Hospital for Children will be a $2,000,000 institution, the gift of the people of the state to the state in memory of James Whitecomb Riley, the celebrated Hoosier poet, and for the especial care and treatment of sick and crippled boys and girls, these to come from every county in the state. When entirely completed the hospital will care for 350 child sufferers at one time, or approximately 3500 in the course of a year.

Construction work is now well under way, on the first unit of the hospital and it is hoped that this building will have been completed and in operation by the latter part of this year. This building alone will provide for the care of 100 patients at one time and also will be able to aid hundreds of additional children.

The urgent need for a state institution especially for the care and treatment of sick and crippled children is shown by the fact that a recent survey of the state has given basis for the estimate that there are at least 10,000 poor children in the state who are seriously in need of medical or surgical attention. These children cannot now receive treatment because Indiana has sadly inadequate facilities for their care. The only Indiana institution with a free ward for children's cases has only twelve beds and a constant waiting list running into the hundreds, representing all parts of the state.

Approximately $1,000,000 of the $2,000,000 building fund has already been raised and plans are now going forward for a general state-wide campaign to complete the raising of the fund. In Indianapolis alone and despite the fact that no active appeal has yet been made, approximately $400,000 has already been raised and it is expected that this sum will be considerably increased. The fact that pledges may be paid over a four-year period, one-fourth of the total pledged payable each year, has encouraged many large contributions.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

Chicago, March 12.—The hope that springs eternal in Rudolph Valentino—to wed Winifred Hadnut in a manner recognized by statutes of California—caused the "shiek" to set a new wedding date today.

"Next Monday or Tuesday we will be married when my divorce from my first wife is made final," Valentino said today.

Valentino was married to Winifred a year ago under Mexican regulations. He planned to have the ceremony performed again last Tuesday but gave up the intention when he found it would not be recognized in California. Although Los Angeles officials declared Valentino could not re-marry before April 8, the "shiek" expects the official approval from divorce courts of California early next week.

September, 1918. In both the iron and steel industry deliveries are no longer promised until the last quarter of this year.

The number of active textile spindles is the greatest known in the history of the textile industry in America and the purchase of cotton by domestic textiles, notwithstanding the high price, has never been equalled.

The total motor vehicle production for 1922 was 6 per cent greater than the previous year and was the greatest in the history of the automotive industry.

Last year was the greatest building year for many years, but according to most conservative estimates the current year will far eclipse 1922. Contracts already made for construction to begin during the present year exceed $5,116,600,000. Car loadings during 1922 were the greatest in the history of American railroads.

These are some of the outstanding features of the prosperous activity in our underlying industries, an activity that is accurately reflected in the labor situation. It is a matter of common information that except among those with whom loafing is chronic and by choice, there is no man today who can not find a job at good wages.

The financial world reflects this renewed activity in industry and transportation. According to the last report of the Controller of the currency, the resources of the national banks in each of the twelve Federal reserve districts, showed a consistent and substantial increase in resources was over two billion dollars and in deposits it amounted to $2,345,397,000. The report of savings banks and of the savings department of banks and trust companies shows an increase during the calendar year of $1,500,000,000 in deposits and 2,300,000 in the number of depositors.

The retail business of the country returned to normally prosperous conditions. Without exception in any section of the United States, the holiday business transacted by the retail merchants last December was the greatest since 1919. Reports of such organizations as mail order houses, which serve a wide and varied trade, show tremendous increases of business during the last year. A typical report was that made by a large Chicago mail order house showing the increase in gross sales to have been 21.6 per cent greater than in 1921.

The New York Times says these conditions are remarkable. They are, but not because of anything per se. There have been previous times in the history of this country when conditions were quite as prosperous and industries were relatively quite as active. The present conditions are remarkable for two reasons. (1) they exist only in the United States, and (2) their existence is in high contrast to conditions two years ago.

It is not difficult to recall the conditions that existed then. Briefly hard times prevailed. Scarcely an industry but what was seriously and adversely affected. Many were completely closed. Between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 workers employed under normal conditions were in enforced idleness, which brought disstress not only to them but because of their crippled buying power, to all business as well. Depositors were drawing their savings from banks to meet their living expenses. Interest rates on gilt edge loans were 7½ per cent.

Liberty and Victory bonds were selling at far below par, averaging about 85. Agricultural sections faced bankrupt and thousands of individual farmers were financially crippled. Finance and commerce lacked confidence and feared what the future might bring forth. All lines of industry and business were contracting rather than expanding.

For a nation to swing in twenty-four months from such industrial, agricultural and business depression to such prodigious activity and prosperity as exists today, is really remarkably under any circumstances. It is all the more so in view of the very patent fact that, while this radical change for the better has been going on in this country, conditions have not improved in Europe.

In many ways they have grown worse in the past two years. With the exception of the British pound, values of currency in nearly all European countries are lower today than they were when the armistice was signed—which clearly shows a lack of ability upon their part to handle the problems of peace.

Partisan critics of the Republican administration try to explain this remarkable improvement in every way except the true way. It is due to two years of Republican administration and legislation.

The business man, who two years ago was living from hand to mouth; the farmer, who was facing bankruptcy; the workingman, who was walking the streets; the manufacturer, who was closing down his plant; the banker and the investor, who were facing the future with timidity and fear, may or may not realize that the changed conditions under which they are working and doing business, today are due to the acts of a Republican Congress, but such is the fact nevertheless.

These acts have, to classify them largely, cut down public expense and public taxes, introduced economy in public administration, given timely assistance to agriculture and afforded needed protection to industry and the wage earner. None of this legislation was particularly spectacular.

The Sixty-seventh Congress, which has just adjourned, first assembled on April 11, 1921, when it was called in special session by President Harding. It has been practically in continuous session ever since. During that time it has enacted constructive legislation which in quality and quantity has not been equalled by any previous Congress in the history of the United States.

In spite of this splendid record, the Sixty-seventh Congress was the object of much criticism. It is only natural to rail at Congress. That is the prerogative of a free people. It always is to be expected. A candid analysis of the criticisms justifies the assertion that they came from those who failed to get class or sectional legislation enacted.

Marketing Bill Dead

Governor McCray has applied the "pocket veto" to the cooperative marketing bill that passed the Indiana legislature and made a long prepared statement explaining his reasons for refusing to sign the bill. He took the position that many opponents of the measure took in the legislature—that no true friend of the farmer would support such legislation because of its many pernicious clauses.

One of them would make it impossible for a farmer or any other person to buy legally from a member of a marketing association any product that might in turn be offered for resale. The governor reasoned that the right to enter into contractual relations is one of the inalienable rights incident to liberty and pursuit of happiness, guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, and to penalize even an offer by a non-member to purchase products from a member is contrary to constitutional guaranties.

Another section alluded to by the governor in his statement provided that any effort to induce any member or stockholder of any such association to break his or her contract shall constitute a misdemeanor and such offender is to be subjected to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 and exposed to a civil action for damages in favor of the association for the amount of $500 for each offense.

The governor reasoned that the mere breaking of an ordinary contract is not a fraud, and to undertake to penalize it with fine and imprisonment would be violative of the constitutional provisions referred to.

Certainly no one can doubt the honesty of Governor McCray; neither can anyone doubt that he has convictions in the matter that are deep set. The governor is himself a farmer and has the interests of the farmer uppermost at all times. He made it plain in his statement that he fully appreciates the difficulties that have beset them during the past three years and their desires to improve their condition.

The position which Governor McCray holds with respect to the farming business made it all the more difficult for him to take this position because the organized farmer was urging this legislation. The governor, however, had the courage to stand for what he believes to be right and shows enough concern regarding the plight of the farmers to offer his services in framing a workable bill along this line for presentation to the next session of the legislature.

Proof of The Pudding

"The proof of the pudding is the eating."

With these words Senator James E. Watson sums up a long newspaper article in which he gives the same old sound legislation of the last congress credit for the unexampled business conditions that exist in the United States.

The senator starts out by quoting a number of authorities to show that the present situation is without precedent in the history of the United States and proceeds to prove that it is wholly due to conditions at home and in spite of conditions in Europe.

The senator refers to a prominent critic of congress who recently stated that if the record of the congress had been one-half as good as business, there would be no reason to find fault with it. His logic is that the critic got the cart before the horse. In other words, if congress had not been as good as its defenders claim it was, business would not be half as good as it is.

Senator Watson points out that congress has been maligned and unjustly accused, which is the inalienable right of a free people, but he reasons that this has been due to the fact that congress has rejected all efforts to enact class or sectional legislation. The stand of the congress against such acts has been responsible for the quick return of prosperity.

"Neither this country," he writes, "nor any other country, could have the sound and prosperous conditions that exist today in the United States if during the past two years there had been a continuous session of a national law-making body that had not enacted constructive and helpful legislation. To fully appreciate what the Sixty-seventh Congress did, one has only to look back and see how far all lines of business, all private enterprise, public economy and readjustment have progressed since April 11, 1921. During all that period the Sixty-seventh Congress was in session formulating the policies of the government and enacting the laws under which both public affairs and private business must be conducted. The proof of the pudding is the eating."

FIFTEEN YEARS
AGO TODAYFrom The Daily Republican
Thursday, March 12, 1908

The citizens of Rushville will have the pleasure of listening to a band concert each Sunday afternoon this summer if present plans which are now being attempted, are carried out, which they will in all probability.

The Republicans nominated the following county ticket: William P. Jay, representative; Clara L. Bebout, sheriff; Vern W. Norris, clerk; George H. Caldwell, treasurer; Jesse M. Stone, auditor; Dr. A. G. Shauck, coroner; Clyde Kennedy, surveyor; Thomas J. Humes, commissioner, middle district; Merrill S. Ball, commissioner, northern district.

Several of the students of the Rushville high school tempted by the beautiful spring day yesterday, went to the Big Four depot and catching a train "hoboed" their way to Greensburg. The boys returned on a north bound freight train yesterday evening to this city, feeling quite elated because they had not been put off.

A party of dentists, composed of Drs. P. H. Chadwick, F. M. Sparks, F. R. McClanahan, of this city, and Drs. E. R. Kibler and A. F. Stienheiser of Indianapolis were entertained at a six o'clock dinner at the Windsor hotel last evening.

The Rev. W. J. Cronin, pastor of the Catholic church who was called to Terre Haute on account of the serious illness of his sister, will return Friday.

Mrs. C. H. Gilbert went to Corydon today to visit her daughter, Mrs. Florence Kitchen.

Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. William Churchill spent the day in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Lake of Indianapolis is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Henry O'Reilly and Mrs. Curt Evans, in this city.

Mrs. E. L. Wooden of North Morgan street is suffering with rheumatism at her home in West Seventh street.

J. W. Gartin and sons, who purchased the Jersey Isle stock farm and renamed it The Ideal, have started quite a stock raising farm and have fair prospects of quite a herd. Mr. Gartin is also an auctioneer, making stock sales a specialty.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkpatrick, living north of this city, is quite ill.

100 WAYS
To Make Money
By BILLY WINNER

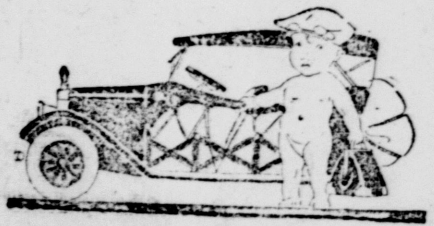

If I Wanted a Car—

I F, like hundreds of people, I wanted to own a car, yet thought I couldn't afford to buy a new one, I would buy unused mileage.

The chances are that I wouldn't have time to search Rushville for the used car I wanted. At any rate, I'd save time and money by getting my used car through Daily Republican Want Ads.

I would have cars brought to me for inspection, or I would search the Daily Republican Want Ads for my car. One way or the other, I'd be sure to find what I wanted.

Later on I could trade in my used car for a new one. More than likely it would make a substantial first payment. I wouldn't be without a car—not at present prices!

University Will Add Valuable Training for Students Who Desire to Teach Athletics

HUNDRED ENROLLED SO FAR

Additional Course Will Benefit Students Who Expect to Teach Other Subjects in High School

Lafayette Ind., March 7.—A school for coaches, intended primarily for students in the School of Education who will take positions as high school teachers after graduation, has been inaugurated at Purdue University in charge of Head Football Coach James Phelan. The school is filling a long-felt need of the Education department, which yearly graduates several hundred men who start work in the various high schools of the state, and whose chances for positions would be enhanced considerably by a general knowledge of athletics, particularly football and basketball.

About a hundred men are composing the school at the present time, while the coach is receiving new applications daily. No restrictions are placed on membership, any student in school being eligible to enroll. In addition to football and basketball, instructions will also be given in baseball and track, and Phelan will be helped by Basketball Coach Ward Lambert in the teaching of the basketball game, and by Edward J. O'Conner as regards track athletics.

Phelan is fully capable of handling the innovation at Purdue, as he had charge of a similar school at the University of Missouri for two years. Phelan will put in most of his time teaching football fundamentals, while Coach Lambert is well qualified to inform the school about basketball. O'Conner, regarded as a great developer of track men, will be able to give some excellent pointers on track athletics, participation in which sport is increasing yearly in the schools over the state.

Connersville and Shelbyville both proved big disappointments in the regional tourney at Ft. Wayne. As it all happened, we're mighty glad that it was them, and not us.

Rushville has done one thing that these other two schools haven't done, and that is to take part in the state tourney. Last year Connersville got out off at the regional, and Shelbyville lost out in the sectional, but Rushville went to the state, and lost their game by one point.

SOME MADE GOOD GUESSES

In the list of guessers on the Ft. Wayne regionals, the nearest anyone came to turning in a correct list was 9 out of 13. He signed his list R. P. Other guessers registered about one half, while the second runner up was 8 out of 13 correct.

Most of dopesters fell down on their guess with Hartford City and Wabash, and Huntington and Connersville, although out of all of the list received, none gave Mooreland a victory over Shelbyville, and this went down for two errors because Shelbyville was then figured in the list of the second round of play.

In glancing over the summary of the Huntington Connersville game, we wonder who played the roughest game. In the list Huntington had 18 shots on fouls, and Connersville 15. Yoos, Huntington player made a record of 13 out of 15 shots. Flannigan, Connersville's forward, didn't show much, and went out on fouls. Connersville made only 4 field goals during the game, and the rest of their points was made on fouls.

Eastern Indiana is exceptionally weak on basketball teams this year. Richmond is the only team that is in the big sixteen list in the state tourney. Watch 'em, and we'd say that they will be among those present in the last game Saturday night playing Anderson.

We haven't changed our mind one inch. We're still pickin' Anderson to knock off Vincennes at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, unless some other team does it first.

What we say shouldn't discourage you in filling out the blank above. Don't delay, send it in right away. Sign your name, please, although if you wish, we will not mention it, and use only your initials.

Lynch Afraid for Title

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 12.—Joe Lynch hasn't done much since he won the bantamweight championship the second time, with the exception of losing nearly all the friends and followers he ever had.

Joe apparently is of the idea that the crown was entrusted to him to be kept in good hands and that he has the only good hands in the division. He has even gone so far in picking setups that he will not fight even a first class setup and has descended to the place where his victims are picked almost from the amateur ranks.

In following the habit of holding the title at all costs, Lynch should remember that he never would have won the title if Johnny Buff had been unwilling to take a chance.

Buff did more than take a chance. He fought Lynch when he was in such physical condition that he didn't have one chance in a hundred to win but he was game enough to defend his title against a first class opponent.

Lynch is not in the position of Jack Dempsey, who hasn't any real outstanding rivals, because Carl Tremaine and Joe Burman are camping on his trail and neither one of them is capable of giving him everything he wants.

Burman may have to cut an arm off to make the weight, but Lynch is getting close to the junior featherweight class. Tremaine can make the weight easily.

Lynch's dangers are not confined to the bantamweight class. Pancho Villa, the little American flyweight champion, would give Lynch an awful fight if the New York Irishman would give him a chance. Pound for pound, little Villa is the best fighting machine in the United States and that goes for Dempsey.

Greasy Neale found recently in a medical examination that he had been outfielding in the National League for eleven years with only one eye. His case is not so remarkable, as some other players have been pastiming longer than that without a head.

REDS HAVE HOPE
IN RUBE BENTON

Cincinnati Ball Club May Set Fast Pace, as New Pitcher From St. Paul May Turn Trick

IS REINSTATED BY LANDIS

Former Southpaw Twirler For Giants is Given Change From Association League to Moran

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 10.—Restoration of Rube Benton to good standing and the decision of Commissioner Landis that the former Giant southpaw is good enough to play in the National League, will put the Cincinnati Reds up to the ears in the pennant race.

All the Reds needed was one more reliable and experienced pitcher to give them a most formidable team and if Benton works like he did last season with St. Paul, he is the needed pitcher.

Moran's staff of hurlers consist of two great left handers—Rixey, the best in the league, and Benton; Pete Donahue, the young pitcher phenom and several other youngsters of great promise. If Pat Moran is able to get Sheehan from St. Paul also, the Reds ought to be the favorite in the Pennant race.

Garry Harriman is the only National League magnate entitled to chuckle over the decision because most of the other club owners were burned by the hot spot that Landis took at them for waiting two years to press charges against a man, who, if upheld, would have deprived him of his only means of earning a good living.

Landis brought up the issue that has been drawn from the start—if Benton was good enough to play in the American Association, he is good enough to work in the National League because both belong to sanctioned organized baseball.

Among the players the decision of Landis no doubt will be received with pleasure, although some of them may maintain that it is about time that the commissioner gave a break to a player. If Landis has not favored the magnates, as his supporters may argue, it is the first time that he has publicly assailed them and the assailing was long overdue on general principles.

While his motives may have been very commercial, Garry Harriman deserves credit for the fight he put up to get Benton and he is entitled to the pitchers as he was willing to lay all the cards on the table while the other club owners ran to cover and passed the buck to John Heydler, the league president.

STATE WILL RECEIVE
BIDS ON 29 BRIDGES

Highway Commission Will Open Proposals March 20, With Total Cost Estimated at $190,000

MOSTLY SPAN SMALL CREEKS

Indianapolis Ind., March 12.—Proposals for the construction of twenty-five bridges, the aggregate cost of which is approximately $190,000, will be received by the state highway commission on March 20. It was announced today by John D. Williams, director.

Proposed structures are, in the small ones. All are on important state roads and span creeks, drainage and dredge ditches and small streams. According to Mr. Williams the bulk of proposed improvements are known as federal aid projects and less than $30,000 will be spent on structures on which no federal aid will be received. Federal aid will be received on approximately $160,000 worth of contracts.

The bridge projects are located as follows: One in Warlick county; four in Orange county; three in Vanderburgh county; five in Gibson county; one in Spencer; three in Morgan county; four in Daviess county; two in Greene county; and three in Owen county. The state roads on which projects will be built are Nos. 4, 10, 18, 22, 5, 12, 13, 20, and 32.

AMUSEMENTS

Bebe Daniel at Princess

What harm newspaper publicity and notoriety can do persons in public life when scandal turns its forces against them, is the central theme of William de Mille's latest production for Paramount, "The World's Applause", featuring Bebe Daniels and Lewis Stone, which comes to the Princess Theatre today.

Bebe Daniels has the role of Corinne d'Alys, a successful actress, whose high place has been largely due to her insatiable search for publicity. Lewis Stone, finished stage and screen artist, makes his debut as a contract player under the Paramount banner in the role of John Elliott, a dramatic producer, who becomes enmeshed in emotional situations of compelling force when his sister (Kathlyn Williams) allows jealousy of her artist husband (Adolph Menjou) to drag them all into a quagmire of scandal and tragedy.

From this point on the drama proceeds to an unexpected conclusion, creating, it is said, a typically well-rounded, dramatic William de Mille entertainment.

An ultra-modern note is struck by

Miss Daniels in her costumes, which are unusually elaborate. Mr. de Mille considers the cast assembled for "The World's Applause," one of the best in his career as a motion picture director.

Other supporting roles are filled by such well-known players as Brandon Hurst, Bernice Frank, Maym Kelso, George Kuwa and James Neill.

Ancient Tombs Are Robbed To Provide For The Spring Styles

New York, Mar. 12—If the women of the United States aren't arrayed more elaborately than the wives of Old King Tut, the Aztec princesses or the Chinese gods during the spring season, it won't be the fault of the International Silk Exhibitors.

The huge Grand Central Palace has been turned into an Arabian Night's dream in which one wanders through 150 booths of marvelously draped silks, ranging from the old taffetas of our grandmother's days to the latest silks of 1923, which are printed batiks, tie-dyes and copies of Egyptian designs unearthed after 3,000 years of burial.

One wanders into a tomb-like booth filled with luxurious fabrics printed in horizontal effect, with rows of wild animals and loin-draped men and suddenly a dapper salesman startles one by saying that these materials are replicas of those worn in Pharaoh's time. Then from out the ancient looking drapery a sleek, tall girl with flat black hair and finger nails stained with henna emerges in a 1923 frock of this Pharaoh material.

Further along, in the various booths motion picture stars gowned in silks of Arabian, Chinese, Egyptian and Navajo designs appear in fashion pageants.

One imagines that the whole fashion world has gone print mad for there is scarcely a material which is not covered with hieroglyphics or figures. Some of the designs are so intricate that one might feel better about wearing them, if one could first get hold of some Egyptian who could decipher the ancient printed codes to ascertain whether they are perfectly nice in their meaning. Indeed, some of them are quite shocking affairs. One can't imagine one's mother going about in one of those "Egyptian taking a bath" frocks, even though they are printed in perfectly respectable old lady colors.

As for the bearded men in loin-cloths done on orange backgrounds, what young debby would wear one of them?

Of course there are many good looking young Egyptians with features like Rudolph Valentino and with sleek black hair, etc., but usually they are doing the Chicago, with hands and feet at funny angles.

Materials have not changed much from those of last season except in the fact that they are usually designed. Roschanara crepe in dark shades with border designs in Paisley colorings, crepe de chenes with small outlined Egyptian figures in black, brown or green, tie-dyed silks in onion and brown tones, bandana prints and India cloth prints are shown in the various booths.

Among the novelty materials are printed angora crepes which are heavier than the average silk crepes and have a satin surface. In their darker tones they remind one of old tapestries.

A remarkable material used for evening capes and for summer parasols is called "sevilla." It has a canton crepe foundation that is batiked in tie-dye effect and on top of this are rows of batiked floss or fringe, shading into all the colors of the rainbow. It is the most marvelous material imaginable and can be purchased in several of the larger stores.

The thinnest stockings in the world were displayed at one of the booths and are made to sell at $125 a pair. It is said that while they were being made, it was necessary to keep paper over them to keep the breeze from blowing them off the machine.

Hotel That Made Porter House Steak Famous is Being Razed

Sandusky, O., Mar. 12—The hotel for which your Porter House steak was named is razed.

Built in 1817 the Porter House considering its size and accommodations, is said to be unrivaled in the mid-west for picturesque historical background.

Charles Dickens, who visited it in 1847, is credited, with giving the hotel its first flush of fame. Dickens was so pleased with a steak served him in the little dining room, that when in Buffalo a few days later, he asked for a steak, "like they serve at the Porter House in Sandusky."

The English author spread the fame of the Porter House steak throughout the country by dwelling on its deliciousness, in American addresses.

Soon afterward leading cafes and hotels announced "Porter House" steaks. It is not known whether any one ever actually took the trouble to get the cooking formula from the Porter House chef. It is said here that chefs merely started calling their best steaks "Porter House."

The old hotel, declared a menace by the state fire marshal, has had a half dozen names during its lifetime, but there are still a few residents of Sandusky who remember it as the Porter House.

BOY BANDITS

Gary, Ind., March 12.—A gang of baby bandits was uncovered here in the confession of seven boys between 13 and 16 years of age. They are held in juvenile court on full confession to the following wild west depredations:

Robbery of two residences.

Robbery of the People's Hardware.

Robbery of the library, 5 and 10 cent stores and various other places.

Setting fire to the Gary and Interurban station at Babcock.

Attempted theft of an automobile in Hammond.

Most of the boys already were on parole for previous infraction of the juvenile law.

BOOTLEGGERS ARE PROTECTED, CLAIM

Defendants in Volstead Abatement Proceedings Accuse Delaware County Officials

CHARGE IN FEDERAL COURT

John Cox, One of Accusers, Says Court Has Been Instrument in Protecting Dry Law Violators

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—Harry Hoffman, sheriff of Delaware county, Prosecuting Attorney Van Ogle and other residents of Muncie were branded members of a conspiracy to protect bootleggers in an affidavit filed in federal district court here today by John Cox and Ida Holcomb, defendants in a Volstead abatement proceedings now pending.

Cox charged that no one had any confidence in any proceedings in grand or petit juries of Delaware circuit court. He charged that the court has been an instrument in protecting bootleggers for political reasons.

Jury, commissioners, sheriff and the judge of the circuit court recently conspired to pick Frank Kimbrough as a member of the grand jury and Walter White as clerk, Cox said, in order to protect certain bootleggers and liquor law violators.

Sheriff Hoffman was charged with becoming intoxicated and driving his motor car into a bridge. Prosecutor Ogle was charged with drinking openly at blind tigers during the primary and election campaigns of 1922 and promising protection to some bootleggers.

Cox's restaurant and nine other places were ordered closed as the result of proceedings filed in federal court here last week.

"Ogle does not come into the court with clean hands," the affidavit said.

The affidavit filed by Ida Holcomb asked that Thomas B. Miller, an attorney, Chief of Police Van Sumbaw and Emma Postal, owners of the property, formerly occupied by the Holcomb woman, be cited for contempt of court and intimidating a prospective government witness.

The three, according to her, are attempting to compel her to leave Muncie in order that she may not appear as a witness before the federal grand jury.

DO GOOD WORK IN STATE

Prohibition Enforcement Pleases Washington Officials

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—Prohibition enforcement in Indiana has greatly pleased Washington officials, Bert C. Morgan, federal prohibition director for Indiana, said on his return from Washington.

"A program of more cooperation between federal and local agencies is planned for the coming year," Morgan said.

"Abatement proceedings have proved the most effective weapon in the hands of the government. It was proceedings of this kind that were used in closing roadhouses in Vermillion county recently."

FIRST GET THE BANK NOTE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—Study the portraits on federal reserve bank notes and remember them government agents here warned the public of Indiana today in guarding the flotation of counterfeit currency.

"Almost all raised money in circulation is in the form of raised notes," one of the experts in the federal building here said.

"There would be little 'bad' money get by if the public only would brush up on the faces of great Americans with which all of us were familiar in our school days.

"These faces appear on federal reserve bank notes as follows:

$1, Washington; $2, Jefferson; $5, Lincoln; $10, Jackson; $20, Cleveland; $50, Grant; $100, Franklin."

"So far no real successful method of changing portraits on bills has been discovered.

DISCUSSES SHADE TREES

Phamlet on "Planting And Care of Shade Trees" Has Been Issued

forestry division of the state conservation department, has issued a comprehensive phamlet on "The Planting and Care of Shade Trees," which is free to anyone writing that division, says Richard Lieber, director.

The phamlet was prepared by Charles C. Dean, state forester, and takes up and discusses such subjects as choosing a site, kind of trees to plant, general rules for planting, how to prune shade trees and also gives pointers on tree surgery. The season will soon be here when thousands of citizens will plant trees. In the last few decades with the increase in hard surface streets in towns and cities intensifying heat in summer, shade trees are recognized as most beneficial to summer comfort, in addition to their importance for landscape beauty.

Anti-Volsteadism Asserts Itself in Women's Styles

Chicago, Mar. 12—Anti-Volsteadism today asserted itself on women's styles.

The well dressed woman this spring must wear "something on the hip."

The bustle will play a return engagement in the east of the well-dressed woman, according to Mme. Alla Ripley, president of the Fashion Art League of America.

The spring bustle would never be recognized by its parent the stiff, ungraceful contraption of grandma's day, Mme Ripley said.

"It will be a fluffy thing," the Art League leader said. "It will be be-ribboned and be-laced and so carefully camouflaged as to convince the wearer that she has still the straight line silhouette demanded by the American woman."

Mme. Ripley declared the influence of the late lamented King Tut was manifest in all the new styles.

"The well dressed woman of spring must look like the sands of the desert," she said. "Somber, desert tones with metal and beaten brass ornaments will be the fad."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS TO MEET

Conference of Teachers, Parents and Interested Friends of Children Will be Held at Richmond

PLAN TO TRAIN LEADERS

Purpose Also to Seek Closer Cooperation of Parents in Religious Education of Children

A Conference of Sunday School teachers, parents, and interested friends of children will be held in Richmond First Christian Church, March 20 beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing throughout the day.

The purpose of the Conference is to train leaders and teachers for the Children's Work in local schools and county organizations, to challenge the teachers to the great opportunity before them training the childhood of the community, and to seek a closer cooperation of the parents in the religious education of the children.

No teacher of children can afford to miss the opportunity of meeting and hearing the leaders in this conference, it is stated. Miss Florence P. Carmichael, regional elementary superintendent, Disciples of Christ has had a wide experience with the work with children. Miss Carmichael will conduct the departmental conference for primary teachers. Miss Myrtle Huckleberry, director of children's work, Baptist Convention, has a wide experience with boys and girls and will give valuable information on the expressional life of children. Miss Huckleberry will conduct the departmental conference for Junior teachers. Miss Lola M. Stribley, Children's Division Superintendent, Indiana Presbyteria, is well known among the Presbyterian Churches of the state. Miss Stribley will conduct the conferences for teachers of Beginners.

The morning session will be given over to the discussion of the place of the child and the teacher in the program, which is a basis for the other points in the program.

The afternoon session will be led in the discussion of the expressional life of the child, worship in the school, the use of the story, and an expression of the opportunities before the teacher. The remaining part of the afternoon session will be the departmental conferences.

The evening session will be inspirational as well as informational. Home cooperation will be a leading topic.

Beware of Marys and Annas Picking a Bride

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 12—Boys beware of a girl named Mary or Anna when you go looking for a bride.

Mary and Anna are more susceptible to divorce than girls of any other name, according to figures in the office of the county clerk here available today.

And girls! Watch out for the good looking lovers named Charles or Frank because when it comes to the divorce court they're in the same class with Mary and Anna.

Anyway that's the story the figures tell. But the figures may not have told the full tale, because there may be more Marys and Annas and Charles and Franks than any other names, except possibly Johns and Bills.

More Johns and Bills were given divorces than any others, but think how many Johns and Bills there are.

From 1,361 cases picked at random from the divorce dockets it was disclosed that there were 86 Marys, 48 Annas, 22 Alices, 19 Mays, 17 Margarets, 14 Pearls, 12 Myrtles, 12 Sarahs, 9 Daisys, 8 Marthas, 8 Josephines, 4 Maggies, 3 Susans, one Mamie and one Nora.

Among the men were 60 Williams, 58 Charles, 57 Franks, 30 Harrys, 29 Georges, 31 James, 26 Roberts, 21 Josephs, 19 Arthurs, 19 Freds, and so on down the line.

In Grandmother's Day

WHEN grandmother kept house, Monday and Tuesday were washing and ironing days. Friday and Saturday were for housecleaning and beating the rugs. A lot of time was lost in cooking, washing the dishes and other household chores.

Today the up-to-date housekeeper's washing is done before Monday noon. Electric irons speed Tuesday into a couple of hours. Grandmother never imagined that meals could be prepared so rapidly, or that dish-washing could be disposed of in such short order. She would have marveled at the effectiveness of vacuum cleaners, better cleansers and many household helps designed to lighten, quicken and improve the work.

That is what advertising means to women today. It has brought them countless appliances which help in their work, better conditions in their homes, add to their pleasure and increase their interest in life.

WIDESPREAD COUNTERFEITING PLOT

International ramifications of the huge counterfeiting plot which secret service operatives brought to a dramatic end with the arrest of 28 ringleaders in New York, have come to light through the announcement that fifteen arrests have been made in Europe in connection with the crime ring. Persons have been arrested in Italy, Germany, England, France and Austria. Photo shows part of the captured counterfeiting paraphernalia. Phone Girls Stay On Job When Fire Threatens Building

Chicago, Mar. 12.—Hundreds of telephone operators stuck to their posts when the Illinois Bell Telephone building was threatened by fire early today.

The top floors of the Times Building, adjoining the Telephone Company offices, were swept by a spectacular blaze.

A high wind, carrying smoke and burning embers, swirled around offices where the phone girls were working. Firemen, handicapped by a severe storm, were able through heroic efforts to confine the blaze to the Times Building, occupied principally by stores and small manufacturing plants. The loss was approximately $100,000.

TO FINISH MORRIS ARMOUR DEAL SOON

Agreement Reached Which Makes it Practically Sure Armour Will Purchase Morris and Company

STOCK PRICES QUESTION NOW

If Negotiators Are Unable to Set a Price on Stock it Will be Decided by Arbitration Board

By J. L. O'SULLIVAN

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, March 12.—Purchase of Morris and company by Armour will be completed within a week, it was learned today from authority in close with the affairs of both companies.

An agreement has been reached which makes it practically impossible for the deal to fall through.

The only thing now standing in the way is the price to be paid for Armour common stock which is to be given to the Morris interests in payment for the property.

The agreements provides that in case the negotiators are unable to set a price on the stock, it will be decided by a board of arbitration consisting of Albert H. Wiggins, president of the Chase National Bank of New York, and James B. Forgan, a Chicago banker. Both parties have agreed to accept the decision of the arbitration board.

Nelson Morris is now in conference with Forgan in Florida with regard to pricing the common stock.

Legal advisers of both companies have assured them that threatened action by the government to prevent the merger will not be upheld when taken to court.

A tentative agreement for sale of Morris interests to Armour and Company before March 1 is reported to have expired on that date when Armour was unable to obtain full consent of Washington authorities to the deal.

Under the temporary understanding, the sale price was to be $30,- 000,000 of which $10,000,000 was to be in cash and the remainder --$20,000,000--in stock of Armour and company. The value of the stock was determined by a group of bankers. Since the price was set, the value of stock of Armour and Company, Morris interests contend, has fallen sharply and they have protested the valuation.

The Morris family is insisting that Armour go through with the deal.

FOSTER IS FIRST TO GO ON TRIAL

W. Z. Foster, Chicago Labor Leader
Is One Of 21 Defendants Arrested
At Communist Meeting

AT BRIDGMAN RAID, AUG. 22

Defense Has Sensational Affidavits
Alleging A Detective Plot—Jury
May Be Difficult

St. Joseph, Mich., March 12. (United Press).—The first of the "Red" trials growing out of the spectacular raid on an alleged Communist convention at Bridgman, Mich., last August, is scheduled to get under way here today.

William Z. Foster, Chicago labor leader, was selected by the state as the first of 21 alleged delegates to the convention to face a jury. Foster was arrested in Chicago, where he went shortly before the raid occurred. He was later extradited to Michigan, when it was decided to prosecute the men under the Michigan anti syndicalist law.

Attorneys for both sides predicted today that it would be several days before a jury was selected.

Judge Charles E. White declared he would block any further attempts to delay the trial, as he had already granted two postponements. Federal officers learned early last summer, through secret agents in Russia and Germany, that the American branch of the Communist party was planning a gigantic convention.

Secret agents here worked for months in an effort to gather information regarding the convention. Much of the credit for discovery of the meeting place was given to Francis Ashworth, federal operative, who joined the Communist party and was appointed a delegate to the convention.

He notified his superiors that the

LORD ROBERT CECIL TO VISIT U. S. A.

TO TALK ON LEAGUE HERE

Lord Robert Cecil, England's strongest champion of the League of Nations, who will arrive in America some time in March and spend about six weeks here in trying to convince us that we really want to and ought to join. This will be his first trip here and he denies emphatically that he comes on a mission. Rumors still persist that he will succeed Foreign Secretary Curzon but Lord Robert denies this.

convention was to be held at Bridgman, August 22. A few days before the date five Federal operatives arrived here to look the ground over.

The Communists had selected a secluded summer resort tucked away in the sand dunes a half mile from Bridgman. The little colony was composed of a handful of buildings and a natural amphitheatre screened by the towering dunes on all sides from prying eyes.

The Federal operatives, however, secreted themselves in hiding places and watched the proceedings, after obtaining the cooperation of Sheriff Bridgman and his deputies.

In some unknown manner officers of the convention were advised of the presence of the Federal men and panic broke out among the delegates which included a half dozen women. Local automobiles were commandeered and a general exodus started.

Men and women were packed into the machines and driven to near by railroad stations where they took trains for Chicago.

The federal and state authorities arrived just as the last loads were preparing to leave. Seventeen of the delegates were seized.

Huge masses of documents and literature were found buried in sunken barrels and discovered in hiding places in the various buildings. Four automobiles were used to haul the stuff to St. Joseph where Federal inspectors scanned every document.

Among the papers was an alleged list of the members of the communist party and delegates to the convention. On the basis of information discovered, warrants were issued for the arrest of more than 60 alleged delegates.

Besides the 17 arrested during the raid, four were later apprehended in other states and returned to Michigan. Two of the delegates arrested were deported.

Among the most prominent prisoners were Foster, C. E. Rutherford, former candidate governor for Ohio, and Thomas O'Flaherty.

The prisoners furnished $10,000 bond and there were contributions of more than $100,000 collected for the defense.

Attorney Frank P. Walsh, leading New York authority on labor cases, was engaged to lead the defense and is assisted by Attorney Humphrey S. Geey, Benton Harbor millionaire. Walsh after his appointment took scores of depositions in various cities which will be presented at the trial.

One of the most sensational of the depositions was that of Albert J. Bailin, who is under indictment charged with sending a letter through the mails threatening to blow up the Woolworth Bldg. Bailin asserted that "Red" plots were incited and manufactured by private detective agencies in order to obtain more business. Allen O. Meyers, chief of the radical department of the Burns agency in a voluntary deposition denied Bailin's charges and declared that Bailin was one of the most dangerous radicals in the country.

State Highway Plans to Pave Road
Leading to Shelbyville

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—Surveyors of the state highway commission have started surveying State Road No. 6, popularly known as the old Michigan road, between New Augusta and Shelbyville preparatory to this section being hard surfaced, according to John D. Williams, director of the state roads body.

Mr. Williams called attention that this is one of the principal truck lines or market highways in the state system. Starting at Madison on the Ohio river, the road passes through Versailles, Greensburg, Shelbyville, Indianapolis, Lebanon, Frankfort, Delphi and at Monticella connects with No. 7. It carries a tremendous amount of truck traffic, particularly live stock and farm products from southeastern counties to Indianapolis markets. The road is paved with concrete between Indianapolis and New Augusta.

AT WORK ON FLOOD PREVENTION PLANS

Peru People Will Try To Remedy
Situation That Brought On Disaster Of 1913

OPPOSITION PLANS FAILURE

Legislature Refuses To Repeal Law
Of 1921 Legalizing Creation
Of Flood Districts

(By United Press)

Peru, Ind., March 12.—With the legislature adjourned, the people of Peru are starting to work again in earnest on flood prevention plans that have been in process of formulation ever since the disastrous flood of 1913. During the legislative session a bill was introduced at the request of opponents of flood prevention to repeal a special measure enacted two years ago giving citizens of Peru and Miami county the power to organize a flood district and build flood walls with the proceeds of tax levies to be distributed over a period of thirty years.

The legislature refused to pass the bill, after several delegations of Peru people had journeyed to Indianapolis for senate and house hearings on the subject. While the matter was being thrashed out in the legislature, the situation has been pending in the civil courts, hearings are set for this week on the legal and engineering phases of the problem and all Peru is awaiting the outcome of the case.

Meantime a number of citizens and taxpayers are getting together to popularize the flood prevention plans. The sentiment of business and manufacturing interests is that the town will not grow and prosper as long as there is any threat of flood damage. Factories will not come here, they say unless the homes of the workers can be protected against high waters of the Wabash and Mississippi rivers. Among the leaders in the group advocating flood prevention are Mark P. Boone, president of the Rotary club; John W. Bossard, president of the Kiwanis club and Harry B. Fox, head of the Manufacturers organization.

(By United Press)

Jackson, Tenn., March 12—Twenty persons were killed and nearly two score injured when a wind and hail storm struck Binson during the night.

Bodies of the dead were brought here today by rescue workers who rushed to the stricken village when word of the disaster was broadcast.

Binson was quietly asleep when the storm broke, wrecking houses and buildings. Many of the dead were killed while they slept. Others were tossed about in the wreckage of their home, as the storm swirled about the little town.

Rain and light hail followed the high wind, adding to the misery of the victims. The casualties lay scattered about, while the townspeople who escaped with only slight injuries tried frantically in the darkness to provide for them.

Messengers were rushed to the surrounding towns to send nurses, physicians, provisions and other necessities. Hours after the cyclone had passed, leaving death and destruction in its path, half clad townspeople tried to repair their damaged homes.

Property Damage In Indiana

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—Many persons were hurt and heavy property damage was done in a gale that swept across Indiana last night and today.

Wire communications were disrupted. Traction lines were tied up with broken trolley wires, windows broken, roofs lifted, chimneys torn down. In some instances pedestrians were picked up by the gale, carried a short distance and slammed down again. Several sustained broken legs and were bruised and hurt otherwise.

A legendary sign advising people to drink root beer, swung down from its moorings over a door of a former saloon and struck a pedestrian. His leg was broken.

Storm in Lake Regions

Chicago, March 12—A gale which reached 80 miles an hour, accompanied by rain, sleet and snow, swept up the Mississippi Valley and across the Great Lakes region during the night causing heavy damage.

Many cities were isolated. Hundreds of miles of wires were blown down. Railroad traffic was demoralized.

Twenty were injured in Chicago alone in accidents due to the storm.

A large part of the city was in darkness when main lines supplying electric current were snapped by the wind.

Thousands of people spending Sunday evening at downtown theatres and cafes, were caught by the storm and unable to reach their homes. Street car and elevated line traffic was tied up by a heavy snow fall. Autos were stalled along all drives, unable to buck the high wind and snow drifts.

With hotels crowded, late revelers spent the remainder of the night in restaurants, lobbies or sitting in stalled cars. The sudden fall of wet snow and rain, clogged drains, flooding cellars.

The snow continued today, although forecasts were for fair and colder weather tonight.

YOUNG WOMAN DIES FROM DRINKING LYE

Miss Susie Honey, Age 29, Who Attempted Suicide One Week Ago
Expires in Orange Township

INQUEST HELD BY CORONER

The funeral services for Miss Susie Honey, age 29 years who expired at the home of her mother, Mrs. James Honey, in Orange township, Friday evening at six o'clock were held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock at the Moscow Christian church and burial took place in the Moscow cemetery.

A week ago Saturday afternoon Miss Honey attempted suicide by drinking concentrated lye, with suicidal intent. It was thought at the time that she would recover, as physicians were of the opinion that none of the lye reached her stomach. Her mouth was horribly burned and it developed later that some of the lye had reached her stomach, which resulted in her death. It was said that Miss Honey had no trouble and no cause could be ascribed for her taking the lye.

The survivors are her mother, two sisters, Mrs. Nettie Campbell, and Miss Kate Honey; three brothers, James and Ted of Moscow, and Charley of St. Paul. Miss Honey was a member of the Big Flatrock Christian church.

Coroner John M. Lee held an inquest over the body Sunday morning.

HEAVY DAMAGE IS DONE BY THE WIND

CHIMNEYS RAZED BY WIND

Large Sign In Front Of W. E. Bowen
Garage Blown Through Window
—Tree Strikes House

Considerable damage was done throughout the city during the night and today by wind which is estimated to have reached a 40 or 45 mile velocity, with property being endangered in many ways as the result of the sweeping gale.

Telephone and electric wires were blown down in many places, disabling the service in some sections of the city. In one place, at the residence of Fred Hughes, 720 West Ninth street, near the Reynolds Manufacturing plant, a fire was narrowly averted.

At this place the wind toppled a tall tree over on the house at 12:30 this morning, during the downpour of rain, taking electric wires with it, and caused flames and sparks to shoot up around the house.

The fire department was called and electric wires were cut, preventing any loss from fire. The department made the run through the rain, and a transformer burnt out causing the city to be in darkness at the time of the run.

A large sign in front of the W. E. Bowen garage in Main street, was blown down this morning and crashed through a large plate glass window and broke the window glass in the doorway, causing considerable damage.

A window pane, located in the lodge rooms at the P. O. S. of A. hall, on the third floor of the building over the Greeks candy store, also was blown out this morning and fell to the sidewalk, barely missing pedestrians.

A tree located in the lot at the rear of the Primitive Baptist church Sixth and Morgan street, was blown down and crashed along the edge of the dwelling owned by Mrs. Julia Williams, 213 West Sixth street, doing damage to the house.

Shingle roofs all over the city suffered from the wind, and in many places shingles were ripped off leaving only the rafters showing. The tin roof on the Social Club rooms, Morgan and Second streets, was torn loose in many places and rolled up

TO TALK AT PLEASANT RIDGE S. E. Polovina Tells Dramatic Story Of His Life

S. E. Polovina a native of Austria, who is widely known as "Methodist Sam," told the story of his life to an interested congregation at St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church Sunday night. He will speak Tuesday evening at the Pleasant Ridge M. E. church southwest of Rushville, as part of a plan by Dr. J. M. Walker of this city, district superintendent, to have him speak in the pulpit of every church in the Connersville district.

Mr. Polovina left his native land before the war and served in the ranks of the United States army as a soldier for nineteen months. His story is a very dramatic one that holds the audience spellbound during its recital.

REFUSES TO DIVIDE CAUSES OF ACTION

Special Judge John W. Craig Rules
on Petition in Case of Kelley vs.
Bebout Et Al

APPRAISERS MAKE REPORT

No Ruling on Petition of Fairview
Burying Ground Association for
Price on Site

Judge John Craig of Greensburg, special judge in several court cases here, was in Rushville this morning, and occupied the bench on a court matter, it being the case of John Kelley, Jr., against Russell Bebout, et al., in which some of the defendants filed a motion to separate the causes of action, and which was overruled by the special judge.

The Decatur county judge also was previously selected to try the case of the State against Mary Ellen Hughes, which was to have been started this morning, but which was continued until April 5.

The case which held his attention this morning is a complaint to set aside a deed, and he was appointed special judge last week. The defendants, Russell, Pearl, John L. and Cecil Bebout filed the motion this morning to make the cause of action in separate paragraphs, and evidence was heard on this petition, and overruled. No date has been set yet for the trial of the case at issue.

The three appraisers appointed one day last week by Judge Sparks, to appraise land that is desired to be purchased by the Fairview Burying Ground association, have reported their appraisal of the land to Judge Sparks, but no record has been made yet of the court's ruling.

In the case of Ray Owens against Owen L. Carr, in which the plaintiff recently filed a motion for a new trial, after judgment had been rendered against him at a former trial, the plaintiff has dismissed his motion for a new trial, and the judgment will stand.

The jury which has not served on a case in this term of court, may not be used again this week, as they had originally been called for today, but were told not to come, and will not be asked to come until notified by the sheriff.

The grand jury also has not been called into session yet this term, although it is the custom to convene the investigators every other term of court, and the last session was in the September term.

CENTER TOWNSHIP FARMER SUCSUMBS

James Hall, Age Eighty-Five Years,
Dies Sunday at his Home North-
east of Mays

FUNERAL WEDNESDAY 1:30 P. M

James Hall, a prominently known farmer of Center township, expired Sunday morning about 11:30 o'clock at his home a mile and a quarter northeast of Mays, death resulting from illness arising with advanced age, as the deceased was 85 years old.

He is survived by the widow and two children, a son, Lee Hall and a daughter Mrs. Ha Shields, both residents of this city.

The deceased had spent most of his life in this county, and was extensively known in northern Rush county. In recent years he had retired from the active duties of the farm, although he remained on the home place until his death.

The funeral services will be conducted Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the Raleigh church, in charge of the Rev. L. E. Brown of this city, and burial will be made in the cemetery at Raleigh.

SEN. WATSON GIVES CONGRESS CREDIT

Says Prosperity Of Country Is Due
To Wise And Sane Legislation
Of Past Two Years

INDUSTRY BREAKS RECORD

Unprecedented Volume And General
Optimism Is Based Solely On
Conditions Within Borders

Senator James E. Watson of this city has contributed an article for newspaper publication, in which he gives the congress which just adjourned credit for the unprecedented condition of business in the United States. Senator Watson cites the testimony of the newspaper, financial pages and then gives credit where credit is due. He writes as follows:

In commenting upon the steady and consistent improvement of domestic finance and business in the face of conditions in Europe, the financial column of the New York Times a few days ago said:

"The further advance in stocks is quite unmistakably a reflection not of European conditions, but of the financial and industrial situation at home. Whether the market could have moved as it did if the financial mind had taken seriously the predictions of disaster in continental Europe is another question; but the actual fact is that the investment market has to all intents forgotten Europe. It has its eyes on the weather signs of business conditions in this country and moves in response to what it sees. These conditions are somewhat remarkable."

In commenting upon the same phenomenon a noted author and writer on economic subjects says:

"The explanation, as repeatedly pointed out, is that trade conditions in America are so sound and promising that they have outweighed in the minds of security holders every other consideration."

Undoubtedly conditions in America are sound and promising. Never in the history of American industry has there been such production. Basic industries are running capacity or nearly 50 to 100 per cent greater than in pre-war times. This is because of the fact that during the war practically every basic industry increased its capacity at least 50 per cent. Some doubled their capacity.

The United States Steel Corporation is operating 90 per cent of its capacity, which capacity is greatly increased since 1914. Despite this fact, its unfilled orders today are approximately 7,000,000 tons, the largest on record since the war.

Pig iron production for the month of January was within a few thousand tons of its highest record of production.

MRS. JANE LEISURE IS DEAD

Expires at Home of Her Son in
Jackson Township This Morning

Mrs. Jane Leisure, aged 82 years, expired this morning at three o'clock at the home of her son, Jesse A. Leisure in Jackson township. The deceased had been ill for several weeks suffering with leakage of the heart.

Mrs. Leisure had lived in that vicinity practically all her life and was well known in this city as well as in the vicinity in which she lived. The survivors are the son at whose home she died, and a daughter, Mrs. Alonzo Dalrymple, and a number of grandchildren. She is the widow of the late John Leisure.

The funeral services will be conducted at the Church of Christ in Jackson township and burial will take place in the church cemetery.

GERMANY READY TO END DEADLOCK

Prepare To Resume Reparations
Payments As Assassination Is
Added To Occupation Terrors

FRENCH OFFICIAL KILLED

France Indignantly Sets Severe Re-
prisal Measures And Vengeance
Is Promised For Act

By CARL D. GROAT

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, March 12.—Germany was ready to end the Ruhr deadlock and resume reparations payments today, as assassination was added to the terrors of the Ruhr occupation.

Following the murder of Lieutenant Coltin and M. Jolly, French officials, near Buer Saturday night, France indignantly set severe reprisal measures upon the district and both Premier Poincare and War Minister Maginot promised vengeance.

Allied Leader Cheered

Brussels, March 12.—Cheering crowds in Brussel streets greeted Premier Poincare of France and Minister of Public Works Lefrouquer as they drove to the foreign office today for the Franco-Brussels conference on the Ruhr.

The conference is regarded as the most important since the joint occupation of the Ruhr valley by France and Belgium troops began.

Foreign Minister Magniot, General Degoutte and Monsieur Serbette, French ambassador were among those attending.

French Soldier Killed

Dortmund, March 12.—A French soldier was killed and five others injured in a Sunday evening street battle here. A German police commissioner and three German civilians were wounded.

Buer, the Ruhr town near which Lieutenant Coltin and M. Jolly, French officials, were murdered Saturday night, was held in a sharpened state of siege today by the invaders. The town had been given until 11:30 last night to discover and hand over the assassins, believed to have been former members of the Green Police, because of the excellent marksmanship evidenced by the wounds in the victim's backs.

Failing to find the murders Buer suffered today a further tightening of the military grip. The burgomaster, assistant burgomaster and other officials were under arrest and a provisional fine of 100,000 marks was levied.

IRISH REBELS ARE JAILED

Rounded Up By Free State From
Every Corner Of British Isles

Dublin, March 12.—Three warships today brought to Dublin 150 rebel prisoners of the Free State, captured in a great roundup that extended to every corner of the British Isles.

The docks were heavily guarded by national troops as the insurgents were landed and marched with tanks and armored cars to Mount Joy prison.

DOG TAX FUND IS DISTRIBUTED

Sum of $3,800.05 is Paid Out to
Townships and Rushville School
City on Per Capita Basis

STATE GETS FIVE PERCENT

Some Townships Profit and Others
Lose in Transaction—74 Cents
For Each Person of School Age

The sum of $3,800.05 which was received from the collection of dog taxes last year, has been distributed by the county auditor among the townships and the Rushville city school corporation on a per capita basis of seventy-six cents for each person of school age. The dog tax money goes to the support of the schools.

The first five percent, amounting to $190.00, goes to the state, and the remainder to the schools of the county. Each township trustee retains $100 as a surplus to meet claims for live stock killed by dogs during the year and the balance is turned over to the auditor for distribution on the per capita basis.

The per capita is arrived at by dividing the amount to be distributed by the number of persons of school age in the county. The amount paid in and received in the distribution by each township and Rushville school corporation is as follows:

Ripley township paid in $275.50 and with 484 persons of school age, receives $369.88.

Posey township paid in $147 and having 327 pupils, gets back $249.89.

Walker township paid in $310 and with 302 persons of school age, receives back $230.78.

Orange township paid to the auditor $339 and on a basis of 261 persons of school age, got $199.45 in the distribution.

Anderson township turned over $374.50 and on the basis of 357 persons of school age, was paid $272.81.

Rushville township paid in $481.50 and with 324 persons of school age outside the city, received $274.60 in the distribution.

Jackson township paid in $57 and got back $123.04 on the basis of 161 persons of school age.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED BY THE PEOPLES BANK

Ralph Payne Becomes President And
Glen E. Foster Cashier, Directors
Announce Today

TO CONTINUE SAME POLICY

A reorganization of the personnel of the Peoples National bank officers has been completed, it was announced today in a statement issued by the directors of the bank, Ralph Payne becoming president as successor to Earl H. Payne, who has retired. Ralph Payne was formerly cashier of the bank.

Earl Payne also retired as chairman of the board of directors of the Peoples Loan and Trust company, but that position will not be filled for the present, it is announced.

Charles A. Manzy and Miles S. Cox, the latter being secretary of the trust company, were elected vice-presidents and Glen E. Foster, who has been assistant cashier, was elevated to the position of cashier. Guy Mulbarger, formerly teller, was selected as assistant cashier, and Wallace W. Payne, who was a book keeper, was made teller. Miss Zora Carney was continued as book keeper and Henry P. McGuire as auditor.

"The bank will continue its present policy and at all times be prepared to meet the needs of its customers," the statement of the directors said. "The officers realize that a bank is a public institution and really belongs to its depositors. In this connection we wish to thank the public for its generous support in the past and assure you that the same courtesy and care in handling your business will be extended to all in the future."

SIX STATES TANLAC PROVED A BLESSING

Peoria Man Declares It Ended His Stomach Trouble and Restored Wife to Health

"Tanlac has been a blessing in our home, and my wife and I will always praise it. I only regret we did not get it sooner, for it would have saved a world of suffering, and money too," declared Benjamin F. Six, 1610 7th St., Peoria, Ill., the other day.

"Four years of stomach trouble had me where I almost lost hope of getting well. My stomach was always so upset my food soured and caused gas and pains that nearly doubled me up. My kidneys bothered me too. I had fearful backaches and headaches, and it was all I could do to drag myself home from work."

"Five bottles of Tanlac drove out all my old troubles and I eat better, sleep better and work better. My wife has taken as much as I have, for her case was as bad or worse, and she too thinks there is nothing like the Tanlac treatment."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35-million bottles sold.

Smoke stacks swung in the air in many places, and several instances were reported where bricks from chimneys gave way. At the home of Mrs. Anna Churchill, 1105 North Morgan street, the chimney made of brick was wrecked almost even with the roof, but only a small amount of fire was made in the stove and no other serious damage resulted.

Window panes in many houses were reported shattered by the wind storm of last night. One of the glass doors on the storm front of the court house was smashed by the wind.

Pedestal lights in the business district were seriously damaged, when in many cases the large bowls were blown down and broken. In several places electric poles were weaving with the wind, and the city men established props to prevent any serious damage.

In the list of wire trouble, the city employees also were attempting to fix damage done to the fire alarm system which was put out of working order during the storm.

People driving in automobiles during the storm Sunday night encountered "great difficulties on the road. The blinding rain resulted in several cars going into the ditch, but no serious damage or injury to any of the occupants were reported.

Center township paid to the auditor $277.30 and with 235 persons of school age received back only $179.59.

Washington township paid in $193 and got back $197.16, on the basis of 258 children of school age.

Union township lost in the transaction, paying $569.25 and with 306 persons of school age, was paid $233.84 in the distribution.

Noble township did not profit anything in the distribution, paid in $300 and receiving back $175, with 229 persons of school age.

Richland township paid in $377 and with 202 persons of school age, received $154.37.

Rushville school city profited most of all because of the large number of persons of school age in the city—1278, which entitled the school city to $976.64. Rushville city is not credited with paying any because dog taxes collected in the city were credited to Rushville township.

The sum distributed was swelled in the sum of $99.00 from Anderson township which was due from 1921 and was not paid to the auditor in the time for last year's distribution.

THE HOME GARDEN

What is Home without a Garden?

WHEN, WHY AND HOW TO SOV FLOWERS

There are two classes of flowers that ought to be planted in the house or in the frames ahead of the season. These are varieties giving their season of bloom late in the season and those which germinate very slowly. Asters, for instance, which come up in two weeks, will germinate quickly enough in the open ground, but their season is the late summer and a month is gained by early planting. The schedule for aster planting should be regulated so that they will bloom either before or after August in neighborhoods where the aster beetle is a pest.

There is usually only one flight of the marauders, and they come in August. As they eat only the blossoms and buds, the asters, either have bloomed in July or are late enough not to flower in September, and are reasonably safe from these devouring pests.

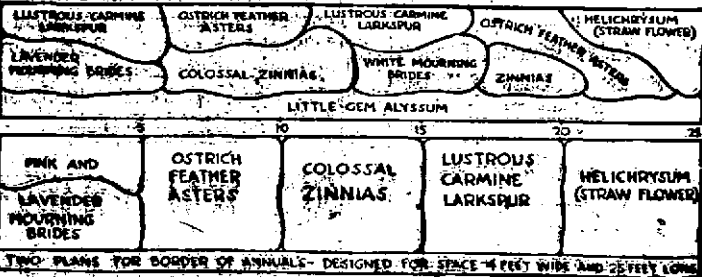

The old form of cosmos rarely gets into full bloom unless given as early a start as possible. The Lady Lennox forms are particularly fine, but not adapted for gardens in the northern half of the United States unless they can be given a month's early start, and even then their season will be brief. The early flowering strains now offered by seedsmen should be planted. They will give flowers from seed planted in the open in August and, if planted in the house or frame can be had in bloom from July until first frost, making very stately and decorative bushes.

Some annuals may be sown outdoors at any time the soil can be worked, regardless of temperature. Scatter poppy seed on the bed where it is to bloom at any time you receive the seed. It will come up early and will stand considerable frost. Annual larkspur seed may be sown in the fall, and so hardy are these tiny plants that they stand all winter unaffected by freezing, ice or snow, and start growth with the first warm weather.

Both poppies and larkspurs are very difficult to transplant, so there is little to be gained by sowing them in the house. All of the poppy family are notoriously difficult to transplant, this including escholtzia and hennemannia. The latter had best be planted in paper pots, a few seeds to a pot, pulling out all but one after they germinate. The pots can be peeled off when it is time to transplant, without disturbance of the roots.

Study carefully the directions on the seed packets in determining what seeds to start indoors and which outdoors. The directions usually will tell you whether to plant in the open or indoors.

Indiana Crop Report

(U. S. Department of Agriculture, Co-operating With Indiana Legislative Reference Bureau)
Indianapolis, Ind., March 12—The corn, oats and barley reserves on Indiana farms March 1 are considerably lower than last year and wheat reserves are slightly larger, but none of them are as large as the usual supply at this time of the year, according to the monthly report of the cooperative crop reporting service for Indiana, issued today. Hay reserves are reported for the first time this year and land values and cash rents paid by tenants are also shown. The report follows:

Reserves of corn on Indiana farms March 1 were 40 percent of the 1922 crop and amounted to 70,522,000 bushels, compared with 76,482,000 bushels in 1922 and 99,846,000 bushels in 1921. The low reserves at this time are due largely to the heavy feeding operations that have been going on for the past few months. The quantity that has been shipped out of the county where grown is reported at 22 percent of it being considered merchantable as last year, although considerably more trading than usual took place among farmers and the prices secured under this method was somewhat better than the elevator prices. The quality of the crop is somewhat above the average, 91 percent of it being considered merchantable. Altogether last year's crop was one of the best ever harvested in the state.

Wheat reserves on Indiana farms March 1 were 16 percent of last year's crop and amount to 4,768,000 bushels, compared with 4,113,000 bushels last year. The quality of the crop was about average but the quantity was somewhat below the usual carry-over. The 1921 reserves amounted to 5,741,000 bushels. The quantity that has been or will be shipped out of the county where grown amounts to 18,475,000 bushels or 62 percent of the total crop.

The growing crop in Indiana is not looking as good as it should at this time of the year. Much damage has been done by freezing and thawing weather. Present indications point to a low condition figure for the entire country, with western Kansas and the southwest in very poor condition.

The reserves of oats on Indiana farms March 1 were 26 percent of last year's production and amounted to only 7,480,000 bushels, compared with 17,896,000 bushels last year and 33,325,000 bushels in 1921. This is one of the smallest carry-overs ever recorded in the state and is due to the late planting last spring and the unfavorable weather conditions at harvesting time which resulted in the smallest crop ever produced in the state. The amount shipped or to be shipped out of the county where grown, amounts to 33 percent of the total production.

The reserves of barley on Indiana farms March 1 were 12 percent of last year's production and amount to 36,000 bushels, compared with 284,000 bushels for 1922 and 634,000 bushels for 1921. The crop produced last year was the smallest in several years and of poor quality. The amount shipped or to be shipped out of the county where grown is 10 percent of the total production, which is considerably smaller than usual. A great portion of the barley produced in Indiana is used on the farm where grown and is confined principally to a few counties in the northeastern part of the state.

The reserves of all hay on Indiana farms March 1 were 35 percent of the total production and amounted to 1,316,000 tons and probably is somewhat larger than usual because of the extremely large crop last year. This is the first year an estimate of hay reserves has been made.

Land values in Indiana compared with last year show a decline of approximately $3.00 per acre for improved land and $2.00 per acre for land without improvements. Plow lands also decreased slightly in acre value with good plow lands showing a decline of $3.00 per acre and poor plow lands a decline of $2.00 per acre, with the average of all plow lands at $1.00 per acre.

The average value per acre of Indiana farms renting for cash in 1922 was $102.00 and the rental $6.00 per acre. The average value of plow lands was $107.00 per acre and the rental $7.00 per acre. Pasture lands were valued at $70.00 per acre and the rental $4 per acre.

DR. S. A. SMITH TO ACT AS CHAIRMAN

Richmond Man To Lead Campaign For Riley Hospital For Children In Sixth District

FAYETTE ONLY COUNTY ACTIVE

Organization Meetings Preparatory To Campaign Will Be Held In Other Counties Soon

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—Dr. Samuel E. Smith of Richmond will serve as chairman of the sixth district for the campaign for the James Whitcomb Riley Hospital for Children, now under construction here as a memorial to the Hoosier poet and for the care and treatment of Indiana sick and crippled poor children, it was announced at the state campaign headquarters here today.

Dr. Smith is a member of the state executive committee of the hospital and has been very active in behalf of the movement. Fayette county is the only county in the sixth district where an active campaign, in behalf of the hospital has already been held. Other counties included in the district, for which county chairmen will be named are Wayne, Henry, Hancock, Shelby, Rush, Union and Franklin. Organization meetings, preparatory to the active campaigns, will be held in the various counties in the near future.

The Riley Hospital for Children will be a $2,000,000 institution, the gift of the people of the state to the state in memory of James Whitcomb Riley, the celebrated Hoosier poet, and for the special care and treatment of sick and crippled boys and girls, these to come from every county in the state. When entirely completed the hospital will care for 350 child sufferers at one time, or approximately 3500 in the course of a year.

Construction work is now well under way, on the first unit of the hospital and it is hoped that this building will have been completed and in operation by the latter part of this year. This building alone will provide for the care of 100 patients at one time and also will be able to aid hundreds of additional children. The urgent need for a state institution especially for the care and treatment of sick and crippled children is shown by the fact that a recent survey of the state has given basis for the estimate that there are at least 10,000 poor children in the state who are seriously in need of medical or surgical attention. These children cannot now receive treatment because Indiana has sadly inadequate facilities for their care. The only Indiana institution with a free ward for children's cases has only twelve beds and a constant waiting list running into the hundreds, representing all parts of the state.

Approximately $1,000,000 of the $2,000,000 building fund has already been raised and plans are now going forward for a general statewide campaign to complete the raising of the fund. In Indianapolis alone and despite the fact that no active appeal has yet been made, approximately $400,000 has already been raised and it is expected that this sum will be considerably increased. The fact that pledges may be paid over a four-year period, one-fourth of the total pledged payable each year, has encouraged many large contributions.

HOPE SPRINGS ETERNAL

Chicago, March 12.—The hope that springs eternal in Rudolph Valentino—to wed Winifred Hindant in a manner recognized by statutes of California—caused the "shiek" to set a new wedding date today.

"Next Monday or Tuesday we will be married when my divorce from my first wife is made final," Valentino said today.

Valentino was married to Winifred a year ago under Mexican regulations. He planned to have the ceremony performed again last Tuesday but gave up the intention when he found it would not be recognized in California. Although Los Angeles officials declared Valentino could not re-marry before April 8, the "shiek" expects the official approval from divorce courts of California early next week.

September, 1918. In both the iron and steel industry deliveries are no longer promised until the last quarter of this year.

The number of active textile spindles is the greatest known in the history of the textile industry in America and the purchase of cotton by domestic textiles, notwithstanding the high price, has never been equalled.

The total motor vehicle production for 1922 was 6 per cent greater than the previous year and was the greatest in the history of the automotive industry.

Last year was the greatest building year for many years, but according to most conservative estimates the current year will far eclipse 1922. Contracts already made for construction to begin during the present year exceed $5,116,600,000. Car loadings during 1922 were the greatest in the history of American railroads.

These are some of the outstanding features of the prosperous activity in our underlying industries, an activity that is accurately reflected in the labor situation. It is a matter of common information that except among those with whom loafing is chronic and by choice, there is no man today who can not find a job at good wages.

The financial world reflects this renewed activity in industry and transportation. According to the last report of the Controller of the currency, the resources of the national banks in each of the twelve Federal reserve districts, showed a consistent and substantial increase in resources was over two billion dollars and in deposits it amounted to $2,345,397,000. The report of savings banks and of the savings department of banks and trust companies shows an increase during the calendar year of $1,500,000,000 in deposits and 2,300,000 in the number of depositors.

The retail business of the country returned to normally prosperous conditions. Without exception in any section of the United States, the holiday business transacted by the retail merchants last December was the greatest since 1919. Reports of such organizations as mail order houses, which serve a wide and varied trade, show tremendous increases of business during the last year. A typical report was that made by a large Chicago mail order house showing the increase in gross sales to have been 21.6 per cent greater than in 1921.

The New York Times says these conditions are remarkable. They are, but not because of anything per se. There have been previous times in the history of this country when conditions were quite as prosperous and industries were relatively quite as active. The present conditions are remarkable for two reasons. (1) They exist only in the United States, and (2) their existence is in high contrast to conditions two years ago.

It is not difficult to recall the conditions that existed then. Briefly hard times prevailed. Scarcely an industry but what was seriously and adversely affected. Many were completely closed. Between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 workers employed under normal conditions were in enforced idleness, which brought disstress not only to them but because of their crippled buying power, to all business as well. Depositors were drawing their savings from banks to meet their living expenses. Interest rates on gilt edge loans were 7½ per cent.

Liberty and Victory bonds were selling at far below par, averaging about 85. Agricultural sections faced bankruptcies and thousands of individual farmers were financially crippled. Finance and commerce lacked confidence and feared what the future might bring forth. All lines of industry and business were contracting rather than expanding.

For a nation to swing in twenty-four months from such industrial, agricultural and business depression to such prodigious activity and prosperity as exists today, is really remarkably under any circumstances. It is all the more so in view of the very patent fact that, while this radical change for the better has been going on in this country, conditions have not improved in Europe.

In many ways they have grown worse in the past two years. With the exception of the British pound, values of currency in nearly all European countries are lower today than they were when the armistice was signed—which clearly shows a lack of ability upon their part to handle the problems of peace.

Partisan critics of the Republican administration try to explain this remarkable improvement in every way except the true way. It is due to two years of Republican administration and legislation.

The business man, who two years ago was living from hand to mouth; the farmer, who was facing bankruptcy; the workingman, who was walking the streets; the manufacturer, who was closing down his plant; the banker and the investor, who were facing the future with timidity and fear, may or may not realize that the changed conditions under which they are working and doing business, today are due to the acts of a Republican Congress, but such is the fact nevertheless.

These acts have, to classify them largely, cut down public expense and public taxes, introduced economy in public administration, given timely assistance to agriculture and afforded needed protection to industry and the wage earner. None of this legislation was particularly spectacular.

The Sixty-seventh Congress, which has just adjourned, first assembled on April 11, 1921, when it was called in special session by President Harding. It has been practically in continuous session ever since. During that time it has enacted constructive legislation which in quality and quantity has not been equaled

PEOPLE who make a business of planning parties get good incomes as a result. Why couldn't I do the same?

Of course, I would have to know about favors, refreshments, and dance figures, but this wouldn't take long to learn, especially if I were interested.

Then I would set about telling people I could plan and help them with their parties—for children and grown-ups. I would handle dinners, card parties, lawn fetes, dances, house parties, and the like. Telling my story would be easy. I would use The Daily Republican Want Ads. This would be economical, sure and quick.

Marketing Bill Dead

Governor McCray has applied the "pocket veto" to the cooperative marketing bill that passed the Indiana legislature and made a long prepared statement explaining his reasons for refusing to sign the bill. He took the position that many opponents of the measure took in the legislature—that no true friend of the farmer would support such legislation because of its many pernicious clauses.

One of them would make it impossible for a farmer or any other person to buy legally from a member of a marketing association any product that might in turn be offered for resale. The governor reasoned that the right to enter into contractual relations is one of the inalienable rights incident to liberty and pursuit of happiness, guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, and to penalize even an offer by a non-member to purchase products from a member is contrary to constitutional guarantees.

Another section alluded to by the governor in his statement provided that any effort to induce any member or stockholder of any such association to break his or her contract shall constitute a misdemeanor and such offender is to be subjected to a fine of not less than $100 nor more than $1,000 and exposed to a civil action for damages in favor of the association for the amount of $500 for each offense.

The governor reasoned that the mere breaking of an ordinary contract is not a fraud, and to undertake to penalize it with fine and imprisonment would be violative of the constitutional provisions referred to.

Certainly no one can doubt the honesty of Governor McCray; neither can anyone doubt that he has convictions in the matter that are deep set. The governor is himself a farmer and has the interests of the farmer uppermost at all times. He made it plain in his statement that he fully appreciates the difficulties that have beset them during the past three years and their desires to improve their condition.

The position which Governor McCray holds with respect to the farming business made it all the more difficult for him to take this position because the organized farmer was urging this legislation. The governor, however, had the courage to stand for what he believes to be right and shows enough concern regarding the plight of the farmers to offer his services in framing a workable bill along this line for presentation to the next session of the legislature.

Proof of The Pudding

"The proof of the pudding is the eating."

With these words Senator James E. Watson sums up a long newspaper article in which he gives the sane and sound legislation of the last congress credit for the unexampled business conditions that exist in the United States.

The senator starts out by quoting a number of authorities to show that the present situation is without precedent in the history of the United States and proceeds to prove that it is wholly due to conditions at home and in spite of conditions in Europe.

The senator refers to a prominent critic of congress who recently stated that if the record of the congress had been one-half as good as business, there would be no reason to find fault with it. His logic is that the critic got the cart before the horse. In other words, if congress had not been as good as its defenders claim it was, business would not be half as good as it is.

Senator Watson points out that congress has been maligned and unjustly accused, which is the inalienable right of a free people, but he reasons that this has been due to the fact that congress has rejected all efforts to enact class or sectional legislation. The stand of the congress against such acts has been responsible for the quick return of prosperity.

"Neither this country," he writes, "nor any other country, could have the sound and prosperous conditions that exist today in the United States if during the past two years there had been a continuous session a national law-making body that had not enacted constructive and helpful legislation. To fully appreciate what the Sixty-seventh Congress did, one has only to look back and see how far all lines of business, all private enterprise, public economy and readjustment have progressed since April 11, 1921. During all that period the Sixty-seventh Congress was in session formulating the policies of the government and enacting the laws under which both public affairs and private business must be conducted. The proof of the pudding is the eating."

In your report last Monday of my sermon at the Princess Theatre you forgot to notice that the statement that "The Bible is not Scientifically accurate" and that "It was Man made and not God given" was under the heading "THE REAL REDS" and was their statements and not mine, though you found it in my "notes" given you of the sermon that I was pleading for the IN-THINGS that I was trying to refute. I felt confident that the reader could see by the general tone of the sermon that I was pleading for the IN-SPARATION of the Book. But from phone calls to me and letter received some of my friends are much distressed at what they think is my forsaking the "True Blues" and going over bodily to "The Reds in Religion."

For their peace of mind and to correct an error that was so apparent will you please publish this statement that I am still a firm believer in The Bible and preaching it every Sunday at the Old stand on Main Street.

FIFTEEN YEARS
AGO TODAYFrom The Daily Republican
Thursday, March 12, 1908

The citizens of Rushville will have the pleasure of listening to a band concert each Sunday afternoon this summer if present plans which are now being attempted, are carried out, which they will in all probability.

The Republicans nominated the following county ticket: William P. Jay, representative; Clara L. Beabout, sheriff; Vern W. Norris, clerk; George H. Caldwell, treasurer; Jesse M. Stone, auditor; Dr. A. G. Shanek, coroner; Clyde Kennedy, surveyor; Thomas J. Humes, commissioner, middle district; Merrill S. Ball, commissioner, northern district.

Several of the students of the Rushville high school tempted by the beautiful spring day yesterday, went to the Big Four depot and catching a train "hoboed" their way to Greensburg. The boys returned on a north bound freight train yesterday evening to this city, feeling quite elated because they had not been put off.

A party of dentists, composed of Drs. P. H. Chadwick, F. M. Sparks, F. R. McClanahan, of this city, and Drs. E. R. Kibler and A. F. Stienheiser of Indianapolis were entertained at a six o'clock dinner at the Windsor hotel last evening.

The Rev. W. J. Cronin, pastor of the Catholic church who was called to Terre Haute on account of the serious illness of his sister, will return Friday.

Mrs. C. H. Gilbert went to Corydon today to visit her daughter, Mrs. Florence Kitchen.

Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. William Churchill spent the day in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Lake of Indianapolis is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Henry O'Reilly and Mrs. Carl Evans, in this city.

Mrs. E. J. Wooden of North Morgan street is suffering with rheumatism at her home in West Seventh street.

J. W. Gartin and sons, who purchased the Jersey Isle stock farm and renamed it The Ideal, have started quite a stock raising farm and have fair prospects of quite a herd. Mr. Gartin is also an auctioneer, making stock sales a specialty.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. William Kirkpatrick, living north of this city, is quite ill.

To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

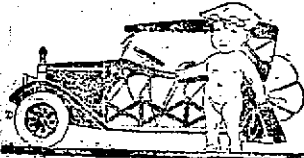

If I Wanted a Car—

If I, like hundreds of people, I wanted to own a car, yet thought I couldn't afford to buy a new one, I would buy unused mileage.

The chances are that I would't have time to search Rushville for the used car I wanted. At any rate, I'd save time and money by getting my used car through Daily Republican Want Ads.

I would have cars brought to me for inspection, or I would search the Daily Republican Want Ads for my car. One way or the other, I'd be sure to find what I wanted.

Later on I could trade in my used car for a new one. More than likely it would make a substantial first payment. I wouldn't be without a car—not at present prices!

PURDUE TO HAVE COACHES COURSE

University Will Add Valuable Training for Students Who Desire to Teach Athletics

HUNDRED ENROLLED SO FAR

Additional Course Will Benefit Students Who Expect to Teach Other Subjects in High School

Lafayette Ind., March 7.—A school for coaches, intended primarily for students in the School of Education who will take positions as high school teachers after graduation, has been inaugurated at Purdue University in charge of Head Football Coach James Phelan. The school is filling a long-felt need of the Education department, which yearly graduates several hundred men who start work in the various high schools of the state, and whose chances for positions would be enhanced considerably by a general knowledge of athletics, particularly football and basketball.

About a hundred men are composing the school at the present time, while the coach is receiving new applications daily. No restrictions are placed on membership, any student in school being eligible to enroll. In addition to football and basketball, instructions will also be given in baseball and track, and Phelan will be helped by Basketball Coach Ward Lambert in the teaching of the basketball game, and by Edward J. O'Conner as regards track athletics.

Phelan is fully capable of handling the innovation at Purdue, as he had charge of a similar school at the University of Missouri for two years. Phelan will put in most of his time teaching football fundamentals, while Coach Lambert is well qualified to inform the school about basketball. O'Conner, regarded as a great developer of track men, will be able to give some excellent pointers on track athletics, participation in which sport is increasing yearly in the schools over the state.

Boils Quit Quick!

S.S.S. Will Prove to You in Your Own Case the "How" and "Why" of its Remarkable Blood-Cleansing Power!

There is a reason for everything that happens. Common-sense kills misery. Common-sense also stops boils! S.S.S. is the common-sense remedy for boils, because it is built on reason. Scientific authorities admit its power! S.S.S. builds blood-power, it builds red-blood-cells. That is what makes fighting-boils. Fighting-boils destroys impurities. It fights boils. It always wins! It fights pimples! It fights skin eruptions! It builds nerve-power, thinking power, the tight-fisted power that whips a man up into success. It gives women the health, the angelic complexion and the charm that moves the world! These are the reasons that have made S.S.S. today the great blood-cleanser, body-builder, success builder, and it's way results have made tens of joy flow from the souls of thousands! Mr. V. D. Schaft, 537 15th St., Washington, D. C., writes:

"I tried for years to get relief from a bad case of boils. Everything failed until I took S.S.S. I am now absolutely cured, and it was S.S.S. that did it!"

Try it yourself. S.S.S. is sold at all drug stores in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

Connersville and Shelbyville both proved big disappointments in the regional tourney at Ft. Wayne. As it all happened, we're mighty glad that it was them, and not us.

Rushville has done one thing that these other two schools haven't done, and that is to take part in the state tourney. Last year Connersville got cut out at the regional, and Shelbyville lost out in the sectional, but Rushville went to the state, and lost their game by one point.

SOME MADE GOOD GUESSES

In the list of guessers on the Ft. Wayne regionals, the nearest anyone came to turning in a correct list was 9 out of 13. He signed his list R. P. Other guessers registered about one half, while the second runner up was 8 out of 13 correct.

Most of dopesters fell down on their guess with Hartford City and Wabash, and Huntington and Connersville, although out of all of the list received, none gave Mobreland a victory over Shelbyville, and this went down for two errors because Shelbyville was then figured in the list of the second round of play.

In glancing over the summary of the Huntington-Connersville game, we wonder who played the roughest game. In the list Huntington had 18 shots on fouls, and Connersville 15. Voos, Huntington player made a record of 13 out of 15 shots. Flannigan, Connersville's forward, didn't show much, and went out on fouls. Connersville made only 4 field goals during the game, and the rest of their points was made on fouls.

WATCH RICHMOND GO

Eastern Indiana is exceptionally weak on basketball teams this year. Richmond is the only team that is in the big sixteen list in the state tourney. Watch 'em, and we'd say that they will be among those present in the last game Saturday night playing Anderson.

We haven't changed our mind one inch. We're still pickin' Anderson to knock off Vincennes at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon, unless some other team does it first.

What we say shouldn't discourage you in filling out the blank above. Don't delay, send it in right away. Sign your name, please, although if you wish, we will not mention it, and use only your initials.

Lynch Afraid for Title

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 12.—Joe Lynch hasn't done much since he won the bantamweight championship the second time, with the exception of losing nearly all the friends and followers he ever had.

Joe apparently is of the idea that the crown was entrusted to him to be kept in good hands and that he has the only good hands in the division. He has even gone so far in picking setups that he will not fight even a first class setup and has descended to the place where his victims are picked almost from the amateur ranks.

In following the habit of holding the title at all costs, Lynch should remember that he never would have won the title if Johnny Buff had been unwilling to take a chance.

Buff did more than take a chance. He fought Lynch when he was in such physical condition that he didn't have one chance in a hundred to win but he was game enough to defend his title against a first class opponent.

Lynch is not in the position of Jack Dempsey, who hasn't any real outstanding rivals, because Carl Tremaine and Joe Burman are camping on his trail and neither one of them is capable of giving him everything he wants.

Burman may have to cut an arm off to make the weight, but Lynch is getting close to the junior featherweight class. Tremaine can make the weight easily.

Lynch's dangers are not confined to the bantamweight class. Pancho Villa, the little American flyweight champion, would give Lynch an awful fight if the New York Irishman would give him a chance. Pound for pound, little Villa is the best fighting machine in the United States and that goes for Dempsey.

Greasy Neale found recently in a medical examination that he had been outfielding in the National League for eleven years with only one eye. His case is not so remarkable, as some other players have been pastiming longer than that without a head.

REDS HAVE HOPE IN RUBE BENTON

Cincinnati Ball Club May Set Fast Pace, as New Pitcher From St. Paul May Turn Trick

IS REINSTATED BY LANDIS

Former Southpaw Twirler For Giants is Given Change From Association League to Moran

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
New York, March 10.—Restoration of Rube Benton to good standing and the decision of Commissioner Landis that the former Giant southpaw is good enough to play in the National League, will put the Cincinnati Reds up to the ears in the pennant race.

All the Reds needed was one more reliable and experienced pitcher to give them a most formidable team and if Benton works like he did last season with St. Paul, he is the needed pitcher.

Moran's staff of hurlers consist of two great left handers—Rixey, the best in the league, and Benton; Pete Donahue, the young pitcher phenom and several other youngsters of great promise. If Pat Moran is able to get Sheehan from St. Paul also, the Reds ought to be the favorite in the pennant race.

Garry Harriman is the only National League magnate entitled to chuckle over the decision because most of the other club owners were burned by the hot spot that Landis took at them for waiting two years to press charges against a man, who, if upheld, would have deprived him of his only means of earning a good living.

Landis brought up the issue that has been drawn from the start—if Benton was good enough to play in the American Association, he is good enough to work in the National League because both belong to sanctioned organized baseball.

Among the players the decision of Landis no doubt will be received with pleasure, although some of them may maintain that it is about time that the commissioner gave a break to a player. If Landis has not favored the magnates, as his supporters may argue, it is the first time that he has publicly assailed them and the assailing was long overdue on general principles.

While his motives may have been very commercial, Garry Harriman deserves credit for the fight he put up to get Benton and he is entitled to the pitchers as he was willing to lay all the cards on the table while the other club owners ran to cover and passed the buck to John Heydler, the league president.

STATE WILL RECEIVE BIDS ON 29 BRIDGES

Highway Commission Will Open Proposals March 20, With Total Cost Estimated at $190,000

MOSTLY SPAN SMALL CREEKS

Indianapolis Ind., March 12.—Proposals for the construction of twenty-five bridges, the aggregate cost of which is approximately $190,000, will be received by the state highway commission on March 20. It was announced today by John D. Williams, director.

Proposed structures are, in the small ones. All are on important state roads and span creeks, drainage and dredge ditches and small streams. According to Mr. Williams the bulk of proposed improvements are known as federal aid projects and less than $30,000 will be spent on structures on which no federal aid will be received. Federal aid will be received on approximately $160,000 worth of contracts.

The bridge projects are located as follows: One in Warrick county; four in Orange county; three in Vanderburgh county; five in Gibson county; one in Spencer; three in Morgan county; four in Daviess county; two in Greene county; and three in Owen county. The state roads on which projects will be built are Nos. 4, 10, 18, 22, 5, 12, 13, 20, and 32.

AMUSEMENTS

Bebe Daniel at Princess

What harm newspaper publicity and notoriety can do persons in public life when scandal turns its forces against them, is the central theme of William de Mille's latest production for Paramount, "The World's Applause," featuring Bebe Daniels and Lewis Stone, which comes to the Princess Theatre today.

Bebe Daniels has the role of Corinne d'Allys, a successful actress, whose high place has been largely due to her insatiable thirst for publicity. Lewis Stone, finished stage and screen artist, makes his debut as a contract player under the Paramount banner in the role of John Elliott, a dramatic producer, who becomes enmeshed in emotional situations of compelling force when his sister (Kathlyn Williams) allows jealousy of her artist husband (Adolph Menjou) to drag them all into a quagmire of scandal and tragedy.

From this point on the drama proceeds to an unexpected conclusion, creating, it is said, a typically well-rounded, dramatic William de Mille entertainment.

An ultra-modern note is struck by

Miss Daniels in her costumes, which are unusually elaborate. Mr. de Mille considers the cast assembled for "The World's Applause," one of the best in his career as a motion picture director.

Other supporting roles are filled by such well-known players as Brandon Hurst, Bernice Frank, Maym Kelso, George Kuwa and James Neill.

BOOTLEGGERS ARE PROTECTED, CLAIM

Defendants in Volstead Abatement Proceedings Accuse Delaware County Officials

CHARGE IN FEDERAL COURT

John Cox, One of Accusers, Says Court Has Been Instrument in Protecting Dry Law Violators

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—Harry Hoffman, sheriff of Delaware county, Prosecuting Attorney Van Ogle and other residents of Muncie were branded members of a conspiracy to protect bootleggers in an affidavit filed in federal district court here today by John Cox and Ida Holcomb, defendants in a Volstead abatement proceedings now pending.

Cox charged that no one had any confidence in any proceedings in grand or petit juries of Delaware circuit court. He charged that the court has been an instrument in protecting bootleggers for political reasons.

Jury, commissioners, sheriff and the judge of the circuit court recently conspired to pick Frank Kimbrough as a member of the grand jury and Walter White as clerk, Cox said, in order to protect certain bootleggers and liquor law violators.

Sheriff Hoffman was charged with becoming intoxicated and driving his motor car into a bridge. Prosecutor Ogle was charged with drinking openly at blind tigers during the primary and election campaigns of 1922 and promising protection to some bootleggers.

Cox's restaurant and nine other places were ordered closed as the result of proceedings filed in federal court here last week.

Ogle does not come into the court with clean hands," the affidavit said. The affidavit filed by Ida Holcomb asked that Thomas B. Miller, an attorney, Chief of Police Van Semhaw and Emma Postal, owners of the property, formerly occupied by the Holcomb women, be cited for contempt of court and intimidating a prospective government witness.

The three, according to her, are attempting to compel her to leave Muncie in order that she may not appear as a witness before the federal grand jury.

DO GOOD WORK IN STATE

Prohibition Enforcement Pleases Washington Officials

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—Prohibition enforcement in Indiana has greatly pleased Washington officials, Bert C. Morgan, federal prohibition director for Indiana, said on his return from Washington.

"A program of more cooperation between federal and local agencies is planned for the coming year," Morgan said.

"Abatement proceedings have proved the most effective weapon in the hands of the government. It was proceedings of this kind that were used in closing roadhouses in Vermillion county recently."

FIRST GET THE BANK NOTE

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—Study the portraits on federal reserve bank notes and remember them government agents here warned the public of Indiana today in guarding the flotation of counterfeit currency.

"Almost all raised money in circulation is in the form of raised notes," one of the experts in the federal building here said.

"There would be little 'bad' money get by if the public only would brush up on the faces of great Americans with which all of us were familiar in our school days.

"These faces appear on federal reserve bank notes as follows: $1, Washington; $2, Jefferson; $5, Lincoln; $10, Jackson; $20, Cleveland; $50, Grant; $100, Franklin."

"So far no real successful method of changing portraits on bills has been discovered.

DISCUSSES SHADE TREES

forestry division of the state conservation department, has issued a comprehensive pamphlet on "The Planting and Care of Shade Trees," which is free to anyone writing that division," says Richard Lieber, director.

The pamphlet was prepared by Charles C. Dean, state forester, and takes up and discusses such subjects as choosing a site, kind of trees to plant, general rules for planting, how to prune shade trees and also gives pointers on tree surgery. The season will soon be here when thousands of citizens will plant trees. In the last few decades with the increase in hard surface streets in towns and cities intensifying heat in summer, shade trees are recognized as most beneficial to summer comfort, in addition to their importance for landscape beauty.

Anti-Volsteadism Asserts Itself in Women's Styles

Chicago, Mar. 12—Anti-Volsteadism today asserted itself on women's styles.

The well dressed woman this spring must wear "something on the hip."

The bustle will play a return engagement in the east of the well-dressed woman, according to Mme. Alla Ripley, president of the Fashion Art League of America.

The spring bustle would never be recognized by its parent the stiff, ungraceful contraption of grandma's day, Mme Ripley said.

"It will be a fluffy thing," the Art League leader said. "It will be be-ribboned and be-laced and so carefully camouflaged as to convince the wearer that she has still the straight line silhouette demanded by the American woman.

Mme. Ripley declared the influence of the late lamented King Tut was manifest in all the new styles.

"The well dressed woman of spring must look like the sands of the desert," she said. "Somber, desert tones with metal and beaten brass ornaments will be the fad."

SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS TO MEET

Conference of Teachers, Parents and Interested Friends of Children Will Be Held at Richmond

PLAN TO TRAIN LEADERS

Purpose Also to Seek Closer Cooperation of Parents in Religious Education of Children

A Conference of Sunday School teachers, parents, and interested friends of children will be held in Richmond First Christian Church, March 20 beginning at 10 o'clock and continuing throughout the day.

The purpose of the Conference is to train leaders and teachers for the Children's Work in local schools and county organizations, to challenge the teachers to the great opportunity before them training the childhood of the community, and to seek a closer cooperation of the parents in the religious education of the children.

No teacher of children can afford to miss the opportunity of meeting and hearing the leaders in this conference, it is stated. Miss Florence P. Carmichael, regional elementary superintendent, Disciples of Christ has had a wide experience with the work with children. Miss Carmichael will conduct the departmental conference for Primary teachers. Miss Myrtle Huckleberry, director of children's work, Baptist Convention, has a wide experience with boys and girls and will give valuable information on the expressional life of children. Miss Huckleberry will conduct the departmental conference for Junior teachers. Miss Lola M. Strahlen, Children's Division Superintendent, Indiana Presbytery, is well known among the Presbyterian Churches of the state. Miss Strahlen will conduct the conferences for teachers of Beginners.

The morning session will be given over to the discussion of the place of the child and the teacher in the program, which is a basis for the other points in the program.

The afternoon session will be led in the discussion of the expressional life of the child, worship in the school, the use of the story, and an expression of the opportunities before the teacher. The remaining part of the afternoon session will be the departmental conferences.

The evening session will be inspirational as well as informational. Home cooperation will be a leading topic.

Beware of Marys and Annas Picking a Bride

Indianapolis, Ind., Mar. 12—Boys beware of a girl named Mary or Anna when you go looking for a bride. Mary and Anna are more susceptible to divorce than girls of any other name, according to figures in the office of the county clerk here available today.

And girls! Watch out for the good looking lovers named Charles or Frank because when it comes to the divorce court they're in the same class with Mary and Anna.

Anyway that's the story the figures tell. But the figures may not have told the full tale, because there may be more Marys and Annas and Charles and Franks than any other names, except possibly Johns and Bills.

More Johns and Bills were given divorces than any others, but think how many Johns and Bills there are.

From 1,361 cases picked at random from the divorce dockets it was disclosed that there were 86 Marys, 48 Annas, 22 Alices, 19 Mays, 17 Margarets, 14 Pearls, 12 Myrtles, 12 Sarahs, 9 Daisys, 8 Marthas, 8 Josephines, 4 Maggies, 3 Susans, one Mamie and one Nora.

Among the men were 60 Williams, 58 Charles, 57 Franks, 30 Harrys, 29 Georges, 31 James, 26 Roberts, 21 Josephs, 19 Arthurs, 19 Freds, and so on down the line.

Ancient Tombs Are Robbed To Provide For The Spring Styles

New York, Mar. 12.—If the women of the United States aren't arrayed more elaborately than the wives of Old King Tut, the Aztec princesses or the Chinese gods during the spring season, it won't be the fault of the International Silk Exhibitors.

The huge Grand Central Palace has been turned into an Arabian Night's dream in which one wanders through 150 booths of marvelously draped silks, ranging from the old taffetas of our grandmother's days to the latest fashions of 1923, which are printed, batiks, tie-dyes and copies of Egyptian designs unearthed after 3,000 years of burial.

One wanders into a tomb-like booth filled with luxurious fabrics printed in horizontal effect, with rows of wild animals and loin-draped men and suddenly a dapper salesman startles one by saying that these materials are replicas of those worn in Pharaoh's time. Then from out the ancient looking drapery a sleek, tall girl with flat black hair and finger nails stained with henna emerges in a 1923 frock of this Pharaoh material.

Further along, in the various booths motion picture stars gowned in silks of Arabian, Chinese, Egyptian and Navajo designs appear in fashion pagents.

One imagines that the whole fashion world has gone mad for there is scarcely a material which is not covered with hieroglyphics or figures. Some of the designs are so intricate that one might feel better about wearing them, if one could first get hold of some Egyptian who could decipher the ancient printed codes to ascertain whether they are perfectly nice in their meaning. Indeed, some of them are quite shocking affairs. One can't imagine one's mother going about in one of those "Egyptian taking a bath" frocks, even though they are printed in perfectly respectable old lady colors.

As for the bearded men in loin-cloths done on orange backgrounds—what young debby would wear one of them?

Of course there are many good looking young Egyptians with features like Rudolph Valentino and with sleek black hair, etc., but usually they are doing the Chicago, with hands and feet at funny angles.

Materials have not changed much from those of last season except in the fact that they are usually designed. Roschanara crepes in dark shades with border designs in Paisley colorings, crepe de chenes with small outlined Egyptian figures in black, brown or green, tie-dyed silks in onion and brown tones, bandana prints and various cloth prints are shown in the various booths.

Among the novelty materials are printed angora crepes which are heavier than the average silk crepes and have a satin surface. In their darker tones they remind one of old tapestries.

A remarkable material used for evening capes and for summer par-

asols is called "sevilla." It has a canton crepe foundation that is batiked in tie-dye effect and on top of this are rows of batiked floss or fringe, shading into all the colors of the rainbow. It is the most marvelous material imaginable and can be purchased in several of the larger stores.

The thinnest stockings in the world were displayed at one of the booths and are made to sell at $125. a pair. It is said that while they were being made, it was necessary to keep paper over them to keep the breeze from blowing them off the machine.

Hotel That Made Porter House Steak Famous Is Being Razed

Sandusky, O., Mar. 12.—The hotel for which your Porter House steak was named is razed.

Built in 1817 the Porter House considering its size and accommodations, is said to be unrivaled in the midwest for picturesque historical background.

Charles Dickens, who visited it in 1847, is credited, with giving the hotel its first flush of fame. Dickens was so pleased with a steak served him in the little dining room, that when in Buffalo a few days later, he asked for a steak, "like they serve at the Porter House in Sandusky."

The English author spread the fame of the Porter House steak throughout the country by dwelling on its deliciousness in American addresses.

Soon afterward leading cafes and hotels announced "Porter House" steaks. It is not known whether any one ever actually took the trouble to get the cooking formula from the Porter House chef. It is said here that chefs merely started calling their best steaks "Porter House."

The old hotel, declared a menace by the state fire marshal, has had a half dozen names during its lifetime, but there are still a few residents of Sandusky who remember it as the Porter House.

BOY BANDITS

Gary, Ind., March 12.—A gang of baby bandits was uncovered here in the confession of seven boys between 13 and 16 years of age. They are held in juvenile court on full confession to the following wild west depredations:

Robbery of two residences.

Robbery of the People's Hardware.

Robbery of the library, 5 and 10 cent stores and various other places.

Setting fire to the Gary and Interurban station at Babcock.

Attempted theft of an automobile in Hammond.

Most of the boys already were on parole for previous infraction of the juvenile law.

In Grandmother's Day

WHEN grandmother kept house, Monday and Tuesday were washing and ironing days, Friday and Saturday were for housecleaning and beating the rugs. A lot of time was lost in cooking, washing the dishes and other household chores.

Today the up-to-date housekeeper's washing is done before Monday noon. Electric irons speed Tuesday into a couple of hours. Grandmother never imagined that meals could be prepared so rapidly, or that dish-washing could be disposed of in such short order. She would have marveled at the effectiveness of vacuum cleaners, better cleansers and many household helps designed to lighten, quicken and improve the work.

That is what advertising means to women today. It has brought them countless appliances which help in their work, better conditions in their homes, add to their pleasure and increase their interest in life.

Advertisements published in this paper continually tell of many conveniences and comforts that you might otherwise miss.

International ramifications of the huge counterfeiting plot which secret service operatives brought to a dramatic end with the arrest of 28 ring leaders in New York, have come to light through the announcement that fifteen arrests have been made in Europe in connection with the crime ring. Persons have been arrested in Italy, Germany, England, France and Austria. Photo shows part of the captured counterfeiting paraphernalia. At the right is Chief Operator Joseph Palma, who engineered the roundup while Operator Peter A. Rubano is seen at the left.

A high wind, carrying smoke and burning embers, swirled around offices where the phone girls were working. Firemen, handicapped by a severe storm, were able through heroic efforts to confine the blaze to the Times Building, occupied principally by stores and small manufacturing plants. The loss was approximately $100,000.

FOSTER IS FIRST TO GO ON TRIAL

W. Z. Foster, Chicago Labor Leader
Is One Of 21 Defendants Arrested
At Communist Meeting

AT BRIDGMAN RAID, AUG. 22

Defense Has Sensational Affidavits
Alleging A Detective Plot—Jury
May Be Difficult

St. Joseph, Mich., March 12. (United Press).—The first of the "Red" trials growing out of the spectacular raid on an alleged Communist convention at Bridgman, Mich., last August, is scheduled to get under way here today.

William Z. Foster, Chicago labor leader, was selected by the state as the first of 21 alleged delegates to the convention to face a jury. Foster was arrested in Chicago, where he went shortly before the raid occurred. He was later extradited to Michigan, when it was decided to prosecute the men under the Michigan anti syndicalist law.

Attorneys for both sides predicted today that it would be several days before a jury was selected.

Judge Charles E. White declared he would block any further attempts to delay the trial, as he had already granted two postponements. Federal officers learned early last summer, through secret agents in Russia and Germany, that the American branch of the Communist party was planning a gigantic convention.

Secret agents here worked for months in an effort to gather information regarding the convention. Much of the credit for discovery of the meeting place was given to Francis Ashworth, federal operative, who joined the Communist party and was appointed a delegate to the convention.

He notified his superiors that the

LORD ROBERT CECIL TO VISIT U. S. A.

TO TALK ON LEAGUE HERE

Lord Robert Cecil, England's strongest champion of the League of Nations, who will arrive in America some time in March and spend about six weeks here in trying to convince us that we really want to and ought to join. This will be his first trip here and he denies emphatically that he comes on a mission. Rumors still persist that he will succeed Foreign Secretary Curzon but Lord Robert denies this.

convention was to be held at Bridgman, August 22. A few days before the date five Federal operatives arrived here to look the ground over.

The Communists had selected a secluded summer resort tucked away in the sand dunes a half mile from Bridgman. The little colony was composed of a handful of buildings and a natural amphitheatre screened by the towering dunes on all sides from prying eyes.

The Federal operatives, however, secreted themselves in hiding places and watched the proceedings, after obtaining the cooperation of Sheriff Bridgman and his deputies.

In some unknown manner officers of the convention were advised of the presence of the Federal men and panic broke out among the delegates which included a half dozen women. Local automobiles were commandeered and a general exodus started. Men and women were packed into the machines and driven to near by railroad stations where they took trains for Chicago.

The federal and state authorities arrived just as the last loads were preparing to leave. Seventeen of the delegates were seized.

Huge masses of documents and literature were found buried in sunken barrels and discovered in hiding places in the various buildings. Four automobiles were used to haul the stuff to St. Joseph where Federal inspectors scanned every document.

Among the papers was an alleged list of the members of the communist party and delegates to the convention. On the basis of information discovered, warrants were issued for the arrest of more than 60 alleged delegates.

Besides the 17 arrested during the raid, four were later apprehended in other states and returned to Michigan. Two of the delegates arrested were deported.

Among the most prominent prisoners were Foster, C. E. Ruthenberg, former candidate governor for Ohio, and Thomas O'Flaherty.

The prisoners furnished $10,000 bond and there were contributions of more than $100,000 collected for the defense.

Attorney Frank P. Walsh, leading New York authority on labor cases, was engaged to lead the defense and is assisted by Attorney Humphrey S. Geey, Benton Harbor millionaire.

Walsh after his appointment took scores of depositions in various cities which will be presented at the trial.

One of the most sensational of the depositions was that of Albert J. Bailin, who is under indictment charged with sending a letter through the mails threatening to blow up the Woolworth Bldg. Bailin asserted that "Red" plots were incited and manufactured by private detective agencies in order to obtain more business. Allen O. Meyers, chief of the radical department of the Burns agency in a voluntary deposition denied Bailin's charges and declared that Bailin was one of the most dangerous radicals in the country.

TO SURVEY MICHIGAN ROAD

State Highway Plans to Pave Road
Leading to Shelbyville

Indianapolis, Ind., March 12.—Surveyors of the state highway commission have started surveying State Road No. 6, popularly known as the old Michigan road, between New Augusta and Shelbyville preparatory to this section being hard surfaced, according to John D. Williams, director of the state roads body.

Mr. Williams called attention that this is one of the principal truck lines or market highways in the state system. Starting at Madison on the Ohio river, the road passes through Versailles, Greensburg, Shelbyville, Indianapolis, Lebanon, Frankfort, Delphi and at Monticella connects with No. 7. It carries a tremendous amount of truck traffic, particularly live stock and farm products from southeastern counties to Indianapolis markets. The road is paved with concrete between Indianapolis and New Augusta.

AT WORK ON FLOOD PREVENTION PLANS

Peru People Will Try To Remedy
Situation That Brought On Disaster Of 1913

OPPOSITION PLANS FAILURE

Legislature Refuses To Repeal Law
Of 1921 Legalizing Creation
Of Flood Districts

(By United Press)

Peru, Ind., March 12.—With the legislature adjourned, the people of Peru are starting to work again in earnest on flood prevention plans that have been in process of formulation ever since the disastrous flood of 1913. During the legislative session a bill was introduced at the request of opponents of flood prevention to repeal a special measure enacted two years ago giving citizens of Peru and Miami county the power to organize a flood district and build flood walls with the proceeds of tax levies to be distributed over a period of thirty years.

The legislature refused to pass the bill, after several delegations of Peru people had journeyed to Indianapolis for senate and house hearings on the subject. While the matter was being thrashed out in the legislature, the situation has been pending in the civil courts, hearings are set for this week on the legal and engineering phases of the problem and all Peru is awaiting the outcome of the case.

Meantime a number of citizens and taxpayers are getting together to popularize the flood prevention plans. The sentiment of business and manufacturing interests is that the town will not grow and prosper as long as there is any threat of flood damage. Factories will not come here, they say unless the homes of the workers can be protected against high waters of the Wabash and Mississippi rivers. Among the leaders in the group advocating flood prevention are Mark P. Boone, president of the Rotary club; John W. Bossard, president of the Kiwanis club and Harry B. Fox, head of the Manufacturers organization.
